U.S. Urges All in U.N. Give Figures on Troops

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., (AP)—The United States Wednesday called on all members of the United Nations to lay "all cards" on the table and make complete reports on the numbers of their troops at home and abroad.

Without formally accepting a double-barrelled proposal of Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia on the troop-reports question, Senator Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) declared that the United States agreed that complete information on troop dispositions should be made public.

Senator Connally and Mr. Molotov spoke before the 54-member political committee of the United Nations assembly, called into session to debate a Soviet proposal asking information on Allied troops and bases in non-enemy territory.

"If it is the view of the committee that these reports have value, the United States is prepared to furnish the information," Senator Connally said. "We think all cards should be laid on the table. We think that the Soviet Union should go beyond this resolution and have a report on all troops throughout the world—whether in Russia proper, in border states or anywhere."

Senator Connally said, however, that the United States delegation would need time to study a new proposal which Mr. Molotov offered to substitute for Russia's original resolution and which would broaden it to include troops in enemy states as well as non-enemy countries.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, speaking for the United Kingdom, said the British delegation took much the same position and wanted time to study the question.

Mr. Molotov also declared Russia was ready to give full data on her troops at home, but suggested this be linked with discussions of Russia's four-point armament limitation plan and not considered along with the question of troop dispositions abroad.

Deny U. K. Troops To Leave Palestine

LONDON, (Reuters) — The war office Wednesday denied reports that the British 6th Airborne Division was being withdrawn from Palestine. The war office declined to comment on the question of reprisals by British soldiers, referred to by a Jewish agency spokesman in Palestine.

JERUSALEM, (CP) — An explosion occurred at the Palestine income tax office Wednesday. No casualties were reported.

Police announced that two explosions near the Jewish agency building and the services officers' club Tuesday night slightly damaged a police armored car, passing at the time. There were no injuries to the police.

Alaskans Buying Meat, Flour Here

There are 100 tons of flour available in Edmonton for shipment to Alaska as one move to relieve the food crisis there. Shipments up to that maximum quota have been authorized by the Canadian wheat board, according to George H McIvor, chief commissioner, who announced this in Winnipeg Tuesday.

None of this flour, released by federal government order, had left Edmonton Wednesday. Alaska business firms still were discussing distribution there as export permits require this information on the shipments. If the maritime strike on the Pacific coast is settled quickly, it is not expected much flour will be bought in Canada as it is considered excessive when compared with cheaper sea shipments, it was reported here.

Release on 35,000 pounds of meat also was made to Alaska Wednesday. E. W. Patton, Fairbanks businessman in Edmonton on food buying, said he was completing arrangements with Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. for shipment of this meat to Dawson Creek by rail. It will be hauled north from there in a single truckload by a vehicle of Alaska Freight Lines of Fairbanks.

While these emergency food shipments were being arranged talks were continuing on the objective of some Alaskans to establish permanent trade links with Alberta and U.S. firms via the Alaska highway. It was reported consultations by Ottawa and Washington will be consulted on the proposal to designate Dawson Creek as a customs port of entry to clear goods hauled by truck over the highway. It was expected Alaska business interests would make an announcement on these plans shortly.

4 Farmers Fail In Strike Appeals

Appeals made on behalf of four St. Paul farmers against convictions as a result of the recent farmers' strike, were dismissed with costs in a judgement handed down by Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald.

The jurist gave leave to S. W. Ross and L. J. Fortier, defence counsellors for Adam Skakoon, R. Bartholemew, Richard Fritze and Victor Tessier, to make a new appeal to the appellate division of the supreme court.

The farmers were convicted by Magistrate Pire in St. Paul of unlawfully preventing delivery of cream by Robert Sharkey, Marcel Beizil, Lucien Gamache, Didier Gamache and Emil Beizil on June 23. The magistrate sentenced each of the picketing farmers to 14 days in jail on each of a total of 13 counts.

The appeal was made on several grounds, mainly that the magistrate refused to grant the necessary adjournment to allow the accused to make a full answer and defence to the charges.

In an affidavit of the magistrate to Mr. Justice Macdonald, he said the accused entered pleas of not guilty, the crown entered its case but Mr. Fortier refused to enter a defence because no adjournment was granted. The magistrate then found the men guilty.

"I find it is not the magistrate's jurisdiction nut the exercise or discretion within the jurisdiction that is being attacked," Mr. Justice Macdonald's judgment said. "His refusal to grant an adjournment was the exercise by the magistrate of a discretion within his jurisdiction, and as such is not open to review by this court."

Group of Coupons To Expire Dec. 31

OTTAWA, (CP) — The prices board announced Wednesday that a group of sugar-preserves, evaporated milk, butter and meat ration coupons will expire at Dec. 31 this year.

Invalid on that date will be all sugar-preserves "S" coupons Nos. 1 to 25 in ration book five, meat "M" coupons Nos. 58 to 64 in book six and all evaporated milk coupons bearing a leaver design.

TWO KILLED BY TRAIN

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Police Wednesday received a report of a C.N.R. accident near River Valley, Ont., in which two persons in an automobile were killed and two injured. River Valley is about 30 miles east of here.

Strike Deadline Nears in U. S. Mines

Climax in the showdown battle between John L. Lewis and the United States government will be reached at midnight Wednesday, deadline set by Lewis for a strike of his 400,000 soft coal miners unless new wage demands are met. The government, which seized the mines last May to end another strike, has secured an injuction forbidding Lewis to call a strike in defiance of contracts still in effect, but nearly one-fourth of the United Mine Workers members have jumped the gun by staying away from the pits. Discussing the threatened strike at Pittsburgh Coal Co. pits are tippleman John Relke, left, and miners Frank Grandi, 2nd and William Matles. Relke's daughter, Jeanne, looks on—for her a strike means a thin and dreary Christmas.

Russia Abolishes Direct Broadcast

MOSCOW, (AP) — The press department of the Russian ministry of foreign affairs Tuesday informed the Columbia Broadcasting System that radio broadcasting by foreign correspondents from the Russian capital — a wartime practice — has been abolished.

Representatives of foreign broadcasting companies may continue working in the Soviet Union, but stories must be transmitted by telegraph.

Three United States networks were affected.

Blames Chiang For Chinese Strife

YENAN, (AP)—Gen Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of China's Communist armies, has charged Chaing Kai-shek with "the entire responsibility" for national disunity and civil strife and assailed "American reactionaries" for "lending his encouragement."

The guerrilla strategist said he was preparing the defence of this Chinese Communist capital against its imminent overrunning by Chiang's armies.

Gen. Chu also made these assertions:

1. That the Communists are not yet prepared to hold a rival congress in defiance of the national assembly at Nanking (contrary to a dispatch circulated by the Communist news agency in Nanking).

2. That between January and June he had demobilized 500,000 Communist troops in keeping with a joint Communist-government army reorganization plan, but they now were in greater strength than ever.

Chu branded as absurd, government charges that the great Manchurian port of Dairen, now Russian-occupied, was being employed by the Communists to ship troops from Manchuria to Shantung province.

U. K. GETS URANIUM

LONDON, (CP) — The Press association said Tuesday a British cargo ship bearing uranium ore — principal component of the atom bomb — had arrived at Liverpool from the Belgian Congo.

Deadline' Approaches With Lewis Still Silent

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The soft coal miners' strike spread Wednesday as John L. Lewis let the "11th hour" arrive still silent on whether he will recall his midnight contract "termination" or defy a federal court order and risk jail.

Approximately 89,000 miners—more than one-fifth of the United States' soft coal-producing ranks—already have laid down their tools.

In the crisis:

1. The army announced that troops will be ready, if needed, to maintain order.

2. The government prepared a call to governors of all states east of the Mississippi for "brownouts" and rationing of electricity and manufactured gas—a move affecting millions. Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, and Minnesota also may be included.

3. Republican and Democratic lawmakers joined in a rising chorus of demands for labor-management legislation when congress meets Jan. 3. There were some scattered demands from lawmakers for an immediate special session.

Under Mr. Lewis' own formula, however, the present government-union contract which went into effect when the administration seized the pits last May becomes "void" at one minute past midnight Wednesday. Presumably, Mr. Lewis has until that hour to withdraw his cancellation of the pact—or risk punishment for contempt of court.

He was ordered to withdraw it in a notice issued by Federal Judge Goldsborough Monday.

Labor lawyers said that unless the United Mine Workers' boss elects simply to ignore the courts they see only two apparent alternatives for him:

1. Go into court Wednesday and ask Judge Goldsborough to vacate the order on the ground that it violates the Norris-La Guardia anti-injunction act, or that it requires Mr. Lewis to do something rather than restraining him from doing something. This is the usual procedure in seeking to block an injunction.

2. Rescind the notice of con-

Labor Keeps Seat In U.K. Byelection

LONDON, (CP) — The Labor party Tuesday retained its seat in London's Rotherhithe riding as R. J. Mellish, 33-year-old trade union official, polled more than the combined votes of his Conservative and Liberal opponents.

Mr. Mellish received 7,265 votes compared with 2,821 for E. Martell, Liberal, and 1,084 for F. A. Burden, Conservative.

The byelection was caused by appointment of Sir Ben Smith, former food minister, to the chairmanship of the West Midlands coal board.

See Verdict Near On Tax Proposals

There was an indication Wednesday that Premier Manning had returned to Edmonton with a definite and detailed tax transfer agreement offer by the federal government and that Ottawa was awaiting word from the province of acceptance or rejection.

Although Premier Manning has had nothing to say publicly on the question, actions of provincial cabinet ministers since the premier's return Monday from Ottawa conferences indicate the possibility that important decisions have to be made quickly.

The cabinet held discussions relevant to the tax transfer proposals Monday and again on Tuesday. But the talks apparently were too important to proceed further without the attendance of several ministers who have been out of the city this week.

Three Are Recalled

Cabinet ministers recalled are: Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry; Hon. municipal affairs, and Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, who were in Calgary attending a convention of the Association of Alberta Municipalities and Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney-general, visiting his constituency.

Premier Manning said he expected to have something definite to say on the tax transfer agreement once he concluded discussions with the full cabinet. This might be late Wednesday or Thursday.

Observers are inclined to doubt the province's answer on the proposals will be a straight yes. Manitoba and Saskatchewan have signed tax transfer agreements and British Columbia is considering federal proposals. This action of the other western provinces might force Alberta's hand to some extent, observers say.

Gerhart Gives Hint

The general feeling is that Alberta will make new counter proposals, an indication coming out of the province of Nova Scotia.

In Calgary Tuesday, Mr. Gerhart was quoted as saying at the provincial convention that Alberta is willing to enter into a special tax agreement with Ottawa but only as a temporary measure to provide time to re-write the constitution and on making a more permanent and more satisfactory settlement.

He said the federal government had just about ruined the independence of the provinces by its usurpation of personal tax fields.

Premier Won't Comment

If talks between the entire government, Premier Manning has not said so. He has declined repeatedly to comment one way or the other since his return. Mr. Gerhart did not see the premier before going to the Calgary meeting and it is possible he is not voicing the latest attitude of the provincial government.

Caucus of all Social Credit members of the legislature will be called for next week and tax transfer proposals unquestionably will highlight caucus discussions. There also is little doubt any stand on the question taken by members at the caucus will follow closely that decided this week by the cabinet.

Find All 11 Bodies In Airliner Wreck

BURBANK, Calif., (AP)—Sheriff's deputies found the bodies of eight passengers and three crew members Tuesday at the scene on rugged Wilson Mountain where an Northwest Airlines plane crashed last Wednesday. Three of the passengers were women.

The sheriff department's radio headquarters and the party, headed by Lt. Sewell Griggers, fighting deep snow, cold, thick undergrowth and almost impassable terrain, took the burned bodies from the wreckage and placed them along an adjacent ridge.

Then they started down with three bodies on a heavy snowshoe overtook them and they were able to bring only one body down. Snow and ice hampered delayed attempts to bring down more bodies.

The Canadian women aboard the plane were Miss Marcy La Branch of Edmonton, Mrs. Bridget W. Knight of Winnipeg and Florence Henry, formerly of Winnipeg.

Ottawa Removes All Quotas On Deliveries of Wheat

OTTAWA, (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon announced Tuesday the removal of all quotas on the amount of wheat which prairie farmers may deliver to their country elevators.

This means that farmers may deliver as much wheat as they want to the elevators instead of being restricted to a certain number of bushels per acre, according to their districts.

Officials said that up to now approximately 90 percent of the crop areas were on the maximum quota of 20 bushels an acre, or were entirely quota-free.

Marketings High

Mr. MacKinnon announced also that during the first 3½ months of the current crop year—August 1 to Nov. 15—producers have marketed the record-breaking total of 291,000,000 bushels of wheat. At Nov. 15, country elevators held 86,500,000 bushels.

"These deliveries and stocks are gratifying in view of the export demand which now exists," he said, "and will be marketed by producers during the present crop year will be required to meet the urgent export demands for both wheat and flour."

Mr. MacKinnon said the Canadian Wheat board had increased delivery quotas this fall as rapidly as available storage space and current transportation would permit.

Elevators Emptied

Officials said the early removal of the quotas this fall resulted from the early shipments of wheat early this year which cleaned the elevators out of much of the 1945-46 crop.

The quota system of wheat deliveries to elevators is used to avoid congestion and to ensure that farmers at a distance from elevators have as much chance to deliver their wheat as those whose lands are close to the storage depots.

Lifting of wheat delivery quotas will cause no sudden rush of farmers with grain for central and northern Alberta elevators, in the opinion of some Edmonton grain dealers. This is because many northern elevators already are filled and unable to ship in bulk because of shortage of railway freight cars, it was reported.

In many sections of central and northern Alberta there are elevators which soon were filled to capacity on the delivery quota of 20 bushels an acre. One Edmonton grain man said the quota may have been too high in such areas and lifting the maximum delivery figure now cannot help them much. Some elevators have been unable to move any wheat this season because no railway cars were available.

Increase in deliveries to elevators may result in some parts of southern Alberta and in Saskatchewan where storage facilities are not overtaxed, it was believed.

Floods Threaten Calgary Districts

CALGARY, (CP) — Waters of the Bow and Elbow rivers, backed up behind ice jams in east and central Calgary, flooded St. George's Island Tuesday night and threatened homes in east Calgary and in the Millward district.

Icy waters, 18 inches deep, flooded St. George's Island forcing the early removal of birds and three deer from the zoo.

Hit by Bride Ship, Cattle Boat Lost

LIVERPOOL, (CP)—No human lives were lost Wednesday when the bride ship Empire Brent, carrying 200 wives and children of Canadian servicemen to Halifax, caused the cattle steamship Stormont in an early morning collision in the foggy Mersey.

The Empire Brent is better known to Canadians as the former hospital ship Letitia.

(The Canadian wives bureau in London said none of the Empire Brent's passengers was hurt.)

After the collision the Empire Brent, with startled women lining her rails, was taken into dock with damage to her bow.

More than 200 head of cattle on the Stormont were thrown into the river. The 1,081-ton Stormont finally was towed ashore, where she is lying on her port side with the upper structure almost submerged. All the Stormont's crew were rescued by harbor craft.

Men in rowboats and launches worked in a driving rain to lead cattle and drag them ashore but many were so weak they had to be shot as they lay in the water.

The wives and children on the Empire Brent will return to London, and if the ship is not seriously damaged, will resume their voyage in a few days. Otherwise they will have to await another vessel.

Compensation Act Changes Sought

LETHBRIDGE, (CP)—The Alberta Federation of Labor feels the provincial Workmen's Compensation act should provide coverage for all employed persons, including domestic servants and there should be compensation for life if the injury is permanent.

Other changes sought by convention delegates include full compensation for disability based on payment of 100 percent actual earnings.

Moslem League Shows Assembly

NEW DELHI, (CP)—The secretary of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem league president, announced Wednesday that the league would not participate in India's constituent assembly which convenes Dec. 9.

The move precipitated another in the series of crises that have split the effort to achieve Indian independence.

The assembly's secretary said, however, the invitations to delegates to the constituent assembly are being issued and preparations are being completed for the session.

Mahatma K. Gandhi, who is touring the riot-affected areas of east Bengal, has received threatening letters because of his attitude toward the communal disturbances in India, it was learned in Calcutta. 19 Below Reading Gives City 79 Degree Range for Week

November, 1946, bids fair to go down in Edmonton's history as one of the most extreme months of all time, metorologically speaking. Wednesday became the coldest November 20 Edmonton has experienced since 1896 when the temperature dropped to 19 below at 9:30 a.m. Just seven days previously the city was basking in 60 above, the warmest November 13 in recorded history. And in a week, citizens have had to adjust themselves to a temperature change of 79 degrees.

Even at 19 below, Edmonton was better off than many other prairie points. Penhold shivered at 34 below, the coldest point reporting on the prairies.

"Balmy" Fraser valley in British Columbia struggled with deep snow and slump cold that had it by the bone at 15 above. Many other points in the west reported heavy snowfall.

Reports from southwestern Alberta Wednesday told how 40 persons spent 14 hours Monday huddled in a snowbound bus eight miles west of the Crowsnest pass; empty automobiles and a bus were sighted, in drifts on the main highway in the Crowsnest pass area; apparently they had been abandoned. It was 12 degrees below at Edmonton Tuesday night and drifts were reported blowing "sky high."

Heavy Drifts Reported

At Bbirmore and Coleman snow drifts were reported 12 to 14 feet in depth. Children were unable to attend the schools due to blocked highways. Miners also were unable to work.

In Saskatchewan and Manitoba the thermometer readings were also below zero and winds reached 15 miles per hour. Heavy snowstorms also were reported in both provinces.

The Edmonton forecast was for the thermometer to dip to 16 below overnight Wednesday with zero as the high reading Thursday. Officials stated the sky would be clear Wednesday night and the weather Thursday would be clear and cold.

Beaverlodge 28 Below

Northern temperatures ranged from 28 below at Beaverlodge to two below at Pelican. There were no reports of snow in the north during the night.

The cold spell in Edmonton failed to have any serious effects although minor traffic snarls occurred. Transportation and street railway superintendent, said he was finding it difficult to keep the street cars on schedule due to the large number of passengers.

City engineer's department has been busy for the past few days covering the streets with sand and salt to prevent skidding.

Favor Direct Talks On Trieste Issue

NEW YORK, (AP) — Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia officially informed the United States government that Russia believes a friendly settlement of the Trieste issue and related border problems by direct negotiation between Italy and Yugoslavia would contribute to the weakening of peace in Europe," it is learned.

Secretary Molotov, the informant said, expressed the views of his government in a letter to Pietro Quaroni, Italian envoy to Moscow who now is in New York.

The letter was in reply to one by M. Quaroni delivering the Big Four foreign ministers that Italy regarded favorably indications from Belgrade that Marshal Tito would like to work out a direct settlement of the Trieste issue.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain also has replied to the Italian communication. It was understood he expressed favor for direct negotiations and left the way open for final decision by the foreign ministers' council on any specific agreements which Belgrade and Rome might reach.

Quash Conviction On Murder Charge

TORONTO, (CP)—The Ontario court of appeal Wednesday quashed the conviction last September of 18-year-old Ronald George Sears of Windsor, for the "slasher slaying" in August of last year of Hugh Blackwood Price. Sears had been under sentence to be hanged Dec. 3.

Sears still faces two murder charges in connection with other Windsor "slashings" last year. The charges were traversed to the January assizes upon his conviction of the Price killing.

The court dismissed the appeal of George N. Bilton of nearby Whitby, against his conviction on a murder charge in the slaying last June of Mrs. Teresa Laurie during a quarrel over a Jax coat. He is under sentence to be hanged Dec. 10.

Government Leads In Romania Voting

BUCHAREST, (AP)—The Communist-dominated government bloc took a tremendous lead over the opposition Wednesday in first returns from the Romanian parliamentary election which also accused the other of irregularities.

Returns from five prefectures gave the government bloc 155,532; the National Peasant party 61,235; the National Liberals 8,288; the Independent Socialists 1,314; the Magyar Popular Union 1,324, and the National Peasant Democrats 9,845. No calculations were available of the number of votes won.

(Bucharest radio said first results from the Romanian elections gave the government bloc of Communists and Socialists between 70 and 71 percent of votes. "The vote for the opposition was very small," the broadcast said).

Final figures may be announced Thursday.

The interior ministry estimated that there were 95 percent of the country's 8,000,000 voters participated in the balloting Tuesday.

Three complaints have been mailed to the Allied control commission against what they charged were irregularities at many voting stations in Bucharest.

About 5,000 citizens flocked to the United States mission in Bucharest, gave their names and addresses and said they were omitted from the rigister.

Meanwhile, the government charged that Mihai Romniceanu, National Liberal opposition minister, led an opposition group which attacked and occupied the Galaz prefecture. The prefecture later was cleared.

Britain and the United States had protested balloting methods as unfair to the opposing Premier Groza's Communist-dominated government.

Vote on Contract In Coast Tie-up

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — The longshoremen and maritime unions announced officially that C.I.O. longshoremen and C.I.O. marine engineers would end their strike Wednesday, — but A.F.L. deck officers said they would set up picket lines until they had considered their own decision.

The 50-day-old west coast waterfront tie-up seemed certain to continue through Saturday, at least, despite ratification of agreements by the two C.I.O. unions.

Capt. C. S. May, president of the A.F.L. union, said the deck officers would take a coast-wide vote Thursday on whether to accept a shipowners' contract offer.

The masters, mates and pilots have not officially been on strike but have remained idle under their traditional "no contract no work" policy.

Elks at McLennan Will Build Modern Hall Costing $70,000

MCLENNAN. — Elks' lodge here is building its fourth lodge hall at an approximate cost of $70,000 and expect to hold the annual Christmas ball in a fine new building which would be a credit to a much larger town than McLennan.

Fire has taken its toll on three previous halls, but the membership of 287 and also a livewire women's auxiliary could not be defeated long by flames. The new building, it is hoped, is of fireproof construction throughout.

Good Dance Floor

Building will contain a fine hardwood dance floor, a large stage, dressing rooms, cloak rooms and will have modern plumbing.

Fire which destroyed a comparatively new Elks' hall two years ago, also destroyed the Star garage next door. The owners of the garage have built an equally modern and fireproof building alongside the new hall and have installed a heating plant to accommodate both buildings.

Beautiful Church

Christmas also will mark the completion of the new Catholic church which will be dedicated during the holy season. When the vicarate of Grouard removed from its ancient location on the Lesser Slave Lake last year, it entered upon a $250,000 building program here.

Choosing a scenic spot overlooking the Kimiwaw lake around which winds the Peace River-Grimshaw highway, the first cathedral of the Edmonton was planned.

Seating capacity for 500 is provided. Broad marble altars, in the middle and on both sides are beautifully wrought by lay brothers. Hand forged steel railings designed in uniformity with the window-placements are sent by generous donors from Quebec. The interior finish is effective in rough black insulated bricks, with pressed biscuit-color brick for upper trimmings. The high ceilings, gothic in design, are lined with light tintest. The choir loft is backed by a Spanish effect in a special refecting glass which will be lighted by electricity.

Rene' Blanchette of Quebec was the architect, and Paul Simard of Valdor came here to supervise the construction. The roof is of steel shingles and the building is absolutely fireproof throughout.

Steam heating built to supply the large palace of the bishop also is capable of heating the large church. Dedication rites are expected to be executed by Bishop Langlois, now in charge of this diocese.

The entire project is a handsome contribution to this town, and the financing for it has all been completed.

McLennan Hotel Sold for $70,000

MCLENNAN. — One and only hotel in the incorporated village of McLennan has changed hands and the reported price paid was $70,000. Sale was made privately by Felix Berlinguette to Stanley Cromwell of St. Paul. The new owners are taking over this week, and the Berlinguettes are moving back to their farm at St. Paul.

Mr. Berlinguette is an old-timer, going to St. Paul 41 years ago and developing a large holding of nine quarters.

Mr. Cromwell is a successful and experienced hotelman and has plans to renovate and improve his new holding. The hotel was built 12 years ago, has 40 rooms, is of brick construction and operates a cafe as well as the licensed beer parlor.

Many new houses have been built this summer and the population has increased to 900.

Rocky to Dedicate Window to Men

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE. — Memorial Presbyterian church here was built after the First Great War as a memorial to the men who gave their lives in that war, and the church board and congregation have decided to install a stained glass window in the church in memory of those who gave their all in the Second Great War and to keep a light always burning in the window.

The board has made a selection of a Gothic window, consisting of three panels. The centre panel depicting the full length figure of the Angel of Peace, the emblems in the side panels to be the sword and torch, superimposed on a wreath of maple. The window will cost $500 and a committee was formed to raise funds. Chairman is Findlay Barnes with the following officers: secretary, Mrs. W. Martz; treasurer, Mrs. S. A. Durnford.

Red Deer Legion Names Secretary

RED DEER.—C. M. Norman, formerly of Olds, has been appointed new secretary and manager of the Red Deer branch of the Canadian Legion. Mr. Norman served overseas for a number of years and received his discharge as sergeant-major. Well known in this city, his wife is of Red Deer, the former Evelyn Mossey, and a music teacher in this city for years. Mr. Norman succeeds Morris Broadfoot, who has resigned.

Legion to Build At Dawson Creek

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. — Armistice day service conducted by the Dawson Creek branch of the Canadian Legion was well attended.

Those participating in the service were: Rev. A. Mathre of the Lutheran church, Adjutant A. Newby of the Salvation Army, Rev. W. Pease of the Church of the Nazerene, W. Irvine, member of parliament for the Cariboo riding and A. F. Clark, chairman of the village commissioners. Joe Corbie M.L.A. for the Peace River district of British Columbia, acted as chairman in the absence of F. Stansfield, president of the Canadian Legion.

The chairman informed those present that the branch of the Legion will be launching a campaign for funds to build a Memorial hall in Dawson Creek. He asked for the support of all the citizens of the village in the Legion's effort to raise $10,000 which will be required to build the hall.

Hun "Ship" Rots On District Lake

NORTHVILLE.—What is positively the last of the German fleet lies rotting on the shores of Chip lake, filled with ice and bulging at the seams.

"Raeder's Raider" was what residents here called it, and typical of its kind, it made only one trip before being abandoned to the vagaries of wind and weather.

Nazi prisoners, working at the Swanson planing mill here, built the craft just prior to their departure for Britain. Hunters along the shore had to exercise some self-control to keep from blasting the craft. Only the fact a member of the Veterans' Guard of Canada was acting as conservation escort, saved the "crew" from being blasted.

The day after its maiden voyage was completed, the Nazis were taken away from here to return to Britain, where their "sea-faring experience" may stand some of them in good stead for the chore of picking up mines from the North sea.

Mr. Parks was taken to hospital by McFarlane's ambulance after he had collapsed in the wet snow. He had been sawing wood for neighbors and was returning to his home here.

The little boy was accompanied by his son and when he fell the boy thought his father was dead. He ran home and telephoned immediately notified the district nurse who had Mr. Parks removed to hospital by ambulance. Mr. Parks is a returned man and was wounded while serving in Italy.

During the year a second projector for the picture show was installed at a cost of nearly $900 and new theatre chairs for the hall were purchased at a cost of over $1,300.

The memorial arena account shows cash, material and labor donations since March of over $3,500. Considerable amount of lumber is on the site, and it is expected that the balance will be taken out this winter and construction commenced as soon as possible next year.

U. S. Becoming Top Target Of Rising British Criticism

By Charles Nichols

LONDON. — The United States rapidly is becoming the No. 1 target of political recriminations in Britain. This trend has been developing ever since the war's end, when Britain turned to re-orient her economic and foreign policies to the changed conditions of transitional peace, and found that the nation's conduct in both fields was inevitably bound up in the policies of America. It has reached a point where it may, if not checked, lead to deterioration of the present friendship for America which was built up during the war.

At present, criticism of America and of British ties with America is on the political level and is prominently marked in the extreme right as well as the Communist left. It has not yet reached the man-in-the-street level where it could impair the human cultural ties between the two great English-speaking nations.

But the development of political criticism centering on the United States has dangerous potentialities.

See Rationing Upheld

The Labor party has unfeignedly gloated over the reported inflation in America following the removal of economic controls. That was good propaganda from the party point of view, justifying the maintenance of unpopular controls in this country and answering Conservative critics who held that a free rein to private enterprise would bring recovery more quickly than government rationing and control.

The American loan to Britain, unpopular with a major element of the Labor party as well as with the Conservative opposition, has been depleted in value by the rise in American prices. As the loan was only a temporary grub-stake, giving this country a chance to get its industry going before world competition for markets could become serious, the depreciation in its purchasing power threatened to hobble Britain in her recovery program and force a revision of her whole export program.

Austerity To Continue

To the man-in-the-street this has an unpleasant implication—the indefinite continuation of austerity conditions of which he is heartily sick. He is not going to be allowed to forget that the economic dependance of this country on United States — temporary at least — is responsible.

Nor is this country happy about the fact it has to spend its scarce American and Canadian dollars to buy food to keep Germans alive. There is the inescapable impression that the wheat-raising countries should not put the humanitarian relief of starvation in any part of the world on a dollar basis.

In the foreign field there is a widespread realization that Britain and America have closely-identified aims in preserving the western system of democracy wherever people. But this is tempered with a feeling that the association of the great democracies might contain elements of danger.

Fear Being Embroiled

Rightly or wrongly, America is reported here to be less patient in dealing with Russia than in Socialist Britain, and there is a very real fear that tough American policy may pull Britain into a fight she does not want—a complete reversal of the previous weight of suspicion between the two nations.

It is this fear, spread through large section of the Labor party, which matured into the "rebel" amendment to throne speech.

The fact that America has not been "helpful" over Palestine has had further aggravating effect, although there are few firm defenders of Britain's record of policy in the mandate. However, Britain is doing an unwelcome job there which is costing British lives. President Truman's pro-Zionists protests have been blamed for worsening the task.

That such irritations should arise as an aftermath of war is not perhaps surprising. On the highest government level there is realization that the Socialist British government and the capitalist American government have high objectives in common and that there is real interdependence. On popular level, the American is still a good guy and his country an enviable place.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio, chairman of the Republican campaign committee, who became majority leader of the house of representatives as a result of the G.O.P. victory in the American elections just passed. A newspaper publisher as well as a legislator, Rep. Brown has been in Congress since 1938, is a member of the powerful house rules committee and other groups.

Deny Prospects Of Grain 'Flood'

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Free Press Monday said grain men were "skeptical" of a report from London that a "great flood" of grain from exporting countries could be expected in Europe shortly.

(A Reuters dispatch on Sunday predicted a spectacular collapse of the "world grain holdup," and said grain would come forward "all the faster for having been dammed back so long.")

The grain dealers, Free Press said, pointed out that the "colossal" surplus said to exist in exporting nations were not in accordance with statistics issued by countries expected to make these "huge" shipments.

Basing their calculations on the dominion bureau of statistics figure of 315,000,000 bushels of wheat as Canada's exportable surplus, the grain men made the following deductions: 160,000,000 earmarked for the United Kingdom under the wheat agreement; approximately 40,000,000 exported to other countries up to Nov. 7; 50,000 required as the normal carryover. This left 65,000,000 bushels for export to countries other than Britain, "far below the amount needed to take care of other Canadian customers."

Australia, normally one of the world's big four exporters, could be written off due to a heavy crop failure. Argentina's estimated crop of 200,000,000 had not been harvested and had run into a period of unfavorable weather which might cut yields. She would require 100,000,000 bushels for domestic consumption and Brazil had contracted for 45 percent of her surplus.

The United States crop, they said, had been and probably would continue to be held up by transportation difficulties. A goal of 250,000,000 bushels for export this season had not been reached.

Many Industries Said Coming Here

LETHBRIDGE, (CP) — Plans of the Alberta government to consolidate the six acts presently dealing with labor under one comprehensive act, were announced here Tuesday by Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry, when he addressed the annual convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor.

The consolidation will promote a better understanding of labor legislation, avoid duplication and facilitate greater efficiency in administration, the minister declared.

There is a greater interest in Alberta's natural resources now than at any time in its history, Mr. Gerhart said. Capitalists and industrialists were investigating conditions and prospects for future development were bright.

Within the last two months 29 new industries have been established in Alberta, the minister said.

The board of industrial relations has been re-constituted, and under the chairmanship of Clayton Adams will now include: D. Matheson, D B. Mackenzie, Mrs. Winnifred Ross, C. A. Hyndman and K. A. Pugh, Mr Gerhart said.

Mr. Gerhart reviewed recent changes in labor legislation declaring nearly all requests presented by the Alberta Federation of Labor had been met.

Delegates also were addressed by K. A. Pugh, secretary of the industrial relations board.

Indians Want U. N. To Restore Rights

DULUTH, Minn., (AP)—The Minnesota Chippewa Indians have laid aside their pipe of peace and decided to seek United Nations' aid in the restoration of their "sovereign rights" to hunt, fish and trap as of old.

Tribal leaders, crowded around a wood-burning stove for their annual pow-wow on tribal problems, said the Chippewas held sufficient sovereignty to claim protection of U.N. as an "oppressed Nation," citing that the United States had always dealt with them by treaty.

"But," said interpreter Ed Wilson, "The United States has never given the Chipewa copies of the treaties. We hold that the government has dealt with us in bad faith. We believe we have a case for the United Nations."

ITALY BUYS GRAIN

LONDON, (Reuters)—Italy is to buy grain from Turkey, the Italian news agency Ansa quoted by Rome radio, said Sunday. Negotiations for the purchase of 80,000 tons of cereals have been successfully concluded, the agency said.

U. S. Air Travel Said Easing Off

NEW YORK, (AP) — Reductions in operating staffs by three air lines emphasize the belief in air transportation circles that the boom wartime demand for plane seats has ended.

Announcing staff slashes were Pan American World Airlines, Colonial Airlines, Inc., and the Pennsylvania Central-Capital Airlines.

Colonial, operating between New York, Montreal and Toronto, said it had dismissed 22 of its 500 employes and a company representative gave a decline in air travel as the reason.

Travel demand dropped 22 percent in October, and 24 percent the first part of this month, the Colonial official said, although the demand remained 19 percent above last year's figures.

Pennsylvania Central-Capital Airlines, operating from New York and Newark as far west as Chicago and as far south as Birmingham, announced a reduction from 16 to 15 percent in its 8,000 employes, but made public no reason.

Earlier, Pan American had given dismissal notices to about 20 percent of the 2,000 employes in its Atlantic division. A spokesman attributed the action particularly to inroads made on air passenger traffic by trans-Atlantic steamships.

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Officials of Trans-Canada Airlines said the company was not contemplating any staff reduction in the near future.

British M.P.'s Ask End to Gas Ration

LONDON, (Reuters)—Some 125 members of parliament, headed by two Conservatives, asked for abolition of gasoline rationing in Britain, climbing it was a "hindrance to post-war recovery" and "encourages widespread dishonesty."

The members, including Conservatives, National Liberals and Independents, asked that their request be debated in the commons.

Missing were $330 in cash, a $200 ring and a wrist watch and diamond-studded bracelet valued at $1,200.

No Need to Repeat

It took a lengthy exchange of communications between Edmonton, Ottawa and Washington to get permission for dealers in Alaska to import needed food from Alberta, and permission for suppliers in Alberta to sell and ship food to them.

No doubt this delay was unavoidable. Certainly no one at Edmonton or at Ottawa or at Washington can be accused of being indifferent to the plight of the people at Fairbanks and other Alaskan communities. But laws, agreements and regulations have to be respected, however aggravatingly slow officials may be in finding ways to meet an emergency.

A way having been found, it is hoped the permissive orders will hold good throughout the winter should emergent conditions persist in the northern territory, or recur. There would be no sense in having to go through all the round-about procedure again every time the Alaskans run short of flour or meat or some other necessity which they could get more quickly from Alberta than from the United States.

A Great Canadian

All those who heard the address of the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey to an Edmonton audience on Tuesday will be able to understand those qualities which enabled him to serve this country so excellently in London as high commissioner and to appreciate the capacity for public affairs which makes him a great Canadian.

In estimating Canada's contribution to the winning of the war and her place in the current world picture, Mr. Massey gave a discerning analysis of the international situation. If his addresses in other cities follow the sense of high patriotism he will have made, at the end of this tour, a valuable contribution to enlightened Canadian citizenship.

Two faculties are necessary in the work which Mr. Massey has done so brilliantly for Canada; first, an understanding of political and economic fundamentals and, secondly, an understanding of people.

The former high commissioner possesses both these faculties in a high degree. And his possession of them explains why, under the most difficult and trying circumstances, he was able to represent this country so effectively in the heart of the Empire.

Edmonton is proud and happy to renew acquaintanceship with such a distinguished and useful Candian.

Better Buy in Canada

Under precautionary orders issued at Washington, shipment of soft coal to Canada stopped Monday midnight. Industries in Ontario and Quebec which depend upon this class of fuel are thus again under threat, and there are many of them, employing thousands of people.

House-holders in those provinces are also given cause for uneasiness, because should soft coal production be interrupted seriously the shortage of hard coal in Canada will have to be banned too, and this fuel kept for United States consumers who normally use the bituminous type.

Whether or not the soft coal mines are put out of business again, the threat should arouse among people in the central provinces more interest than they have ever yet shown in the possibility of cutting adrift from the United States sources and drawing their coal supplies regularly from Alberta and Nova Scotia. Distance is of course a barrier, and a serious one.

But security is more important than price, convenience or custom when a winter coal supply is at stake. Already consumers in those provinces have been deprived of coal because of a dispute in the United States, which they did not cause, could not prevent, and could do nothing to settle. At the moment they face another prospect of empty bins—in winter—because of another dispute in the producing area across the border.

Canadian mines are operated under Canadian law, and the law can be made whatever Canadians want it to be. That fact should carry some weight with consumers in Ontario and Quebec at the present juncture. They would be safer if they got their coal supply from mines in Canada.

Are Houses the Exception?

What is wrong with the prefabricated house? For some reason it doesn't seem to be wanted either in Canada or the United States. A Montreal firm says it could turn out knock-down houses, ready to be put together on the ground in quick order, at the rate of dozens per week if people would only buy them. And at Washington the reconstruction finance corporation has refused to advance loans to firms wanting to turn out "prefabs," apparently because there is not a known demand ready to take up the output.

But from London comes word that the government has ordered 54,500 aluminum houses as one detail of its housing program.

Maybe the difference in climate has something to do with the non-popularity of factory-made living places on this continent? Most people have an instinctive notion that a prefabricated house is a flimsy affair which cannot be kept warm in winter. If that is the case, the fault can surely be remedied. A change of building specifications would seem to meet the objection.

Whatever the reason, the fact that "prefabs" are not saleable is peculiar. Automobiles are turned out by mass production, and the only reason they are not selling in millions is that they can't be made fast enough. Refrigerators are not built where they are to be used, nor radios, nor washing machines. Ready-made clothing, and endless other types of consumer goods, and capital goods, are "prefabricated," and there is no trouble selling these. Houses in fact seem to be the one commodity that is not produced on the ready-to-use plan.

Yet the need of houses is more acute than the need of motor cars or any other of the highly complicated family requirements or industrial machines which no one thinks of making any other way than by the fast and economical processes of production lines and mass output. Then why not build houses by some faster method than assembling materials on the site and putting them together stick by stick and board by board?

Maybe the prefabricated house is not the answer. But there must be some way to turn out houses at a rate more in keeping with the pace of production that has been attained in other lines, practically all other lines. Do we still have to build houses the way our grandfathers did it? We don't build other things that way.

Still "The Balkans"

The Big Four foreign ministers broke the Trieste deadlock by a saw-off. Molotov agreed that the governor is to control the city police force; the others agreed that he is not to have power to proclaim a state of siege.

This clears the way for completing the treaty between Italy and Yugoslavia, except for the circumstance that Tito said he won't sign. Whether clipping the proposed powers of the governor will satisfy his scruples remains to be seen. At least it offers him a chance to back down without seeming to do so. He will do it if he gets a tip from Moscow, and won't if Moscow tells him not to.

Meantime the Greek Government says a force of well armed and organized foreign "bandits" have crossed its northern border, politely and politically refraining from saying where they came from. Athens also reports that eleven Yugoslav divisions have been strung along the border. Perhaps they are there to round up the "bandits" when the Greeks chase them across?

Yugoslavia is making sure that "the Balkans" are not to lose their long-standing status as the European breeding-ground of trouble. Maybe Tito is doing this on his own. Whether so or not, he will stop playing the bad boy role if Stalin gives the word. He dare not do otherwise.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE — by Webster

Canada's Dilemma

By Elmore Philpott

NEW YORK: There is a direct connection between Prime Minister King's recent visit to Washington and Canada's taking part in the UN Assembly for immediate implementation of Article 43 of the Charter.

For months past Canada has been under the strongest kind of pressure from the United States to grant the latter rights to establish or to share military bases across Canada's Arctic frontier. It is not true (as The Financial Post of Toronto once claimed) that the U. S. had given Canada a virtual ultimatum on this matter. But it is true that the pressure has been as unrelenting as it was friendly.

Military opinion in Canada has long since accepted as inevitable the likelihood that the U. S. would get what she wanted, especially as the uranium which is the raw material for atom bombs is situated in Northern Canada. But the political objections to this course on Canada's part are almost as old and deep as the roots of Canadian nationhood.

Canada opposed British Imperialism down through the administration of all governments. Laurier finished what Sir John A. Macdonald began — long before Mackenzie King's age of mature nationalism came in. The most spectacular and significant move in this whole trend was when Canada handed the hat to the last of the British garrisons — who had been in our country for more than a century before Canada was even a dominion.

Hence for Canada now to hand over to her neighbor a string of bases right across the Arctic would reverse the whole stream of Canadian history. It would lay Canada open to the charge that she was willing to do for the U. S. what she had long been unwilling to do for the mother country - the senior member of the British family of nations.

☆ ☆ ☆

THAT IS WHERE the UN charter comes into the picture. Its basic idea was that the military staff of the security council would cut the world up into defence zones, and ask each member nation to provide in advance a certain amount of force.

Article 43 says:

"1. All members of the United Nations, in order to contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security, undertake to make available to the security council, on its call and in accordance with a special agreement or agreements, armed forces, assistance, and facilities, including rights of passage, necessary for the purpose of maintaining international peace and security."

☆ ☆ ☆

THUS IF THE security council were to decree that North America was one of the various regional defence zones of the world, Canada could get off the horns of her present dilemma. For it could be politically possible for any Canadian government to do its bit under Article 43 of the charter, even if that meant joint U. S.-Canadian defence of the Arctic (as it surely would). Just ad of leaving itself open to the charge that Canada had put herself in a new kind of colonial bondage (this time to the U.S.) the government would have excellent justification.

The joker is that Article 43 of the Charter plays right into the hand of Soviet policy in other parts of the world. All the arguments that can be used for setting up a single North American defence zone can be used by the Slavs in their own part of the world.

Russia has in fact even more reason to claim the right to share the joint defence of the Dardanelles than the U. S. has to demand a share in Arctic defence.

There is, of course, a real difference between the Turkish-Russian relationship and that between Canada and the U. S. We are the closest and oldest friends. The Turks are so hostile to Soviet claims to a share in joint defence of the Straits that they state plainly they would fight rather than yield.

Yet when one examines the Charter one sees clearly what is coming. Russia will surely say, "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Clarifying the Atomic

By Bruce Hutchison

Three recent developments have clarified without solving the problem of atomic energy. A committee of scientists has reported on the feasibility of controlling the use of the atom. The United States government has offered a complete explanation of its plan of atomic control and has swept away much misunderstanding of it. The Mexican government has offered an entirely new control plan to the United Nations. On the basis of these developments, the Atomic Energy Commission now is making another attempt to break the long deadlock on control measures between Russia and the western powers.

The scientific committee appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission finds that a system of controlling the atom and prohibiting the use in weapons is "technologically feasible." Given sufficient power of inspection, scientists can watch every stage in the fission of the atom and see precisely how its products are used. If the scientific problem is complex in a technical sense, it is simple compared with the political problem which must be solved before scientists can begin to control atomic processes. The political problem, not the scientific, is the real issue before the world today.

IT MAY BE fortunate in the end that Mr. Henry Wallace raised this problem anew by attacking the United States' plan for solving it. As a result of his criticism, Mr. Bernard Baruch, chief American delegate in the Atomic Energy Commission, has released a statement which destroys Mr. Wallace's whole thesis and gives the world a clear understanding of the American atomic control plan.

Mr. Baruch shows that the United States already has proposed precisely the method suggested by Mr. Wallace. Under its plan, when the nations signed a treaty prohibiting atomic weapons and vesting control of all atomic energy now in an international authority and the United States would specify exactly the stages by which it would relinquish its knowledge of the atom and its use. As Mr. Baruch points out, the suggestion that the information be surrendered in stages is not proposed alone by the United States but was approved by Russia and Britain at a conference of foreign ministers in Moscow last December and later by the United Nations Assembly.

MR. WALLACE said the United States asked other nations to agree not to carry on atomic research while the United States withheld its atomic secrets indefinitely. Mr. Baruch replies that the United States proposed that all the signatory nations accept precisely the same obligations and seeks no special advantage for itself.

Mr. Wallace attacked as irrelevant the American proposal that the veto of the Security Council be abolished in the business of the proposed international atomic authority. Mr. Baruch shows that the purpose of the international authority, is to prevent the manufacture of any atomic weapons anywhere, and to prevent it, must be able to punish those who violate their pledge to make no such weapons. The authority cannot function if its attempts at inspection or punishment are subject to veto.

Mr. Wallace suggested that Russia was prepared to go further than the United States in punishing violators of an international law against the manufacture of atomic weapons. Mr. Baruch says the Russian plan fails to make "specific international prevention control measures." Under the Russian plan violations of the international code by any person would be punished by the government of the country in which he lived. Russia alone could punish a Russian violator. But if a Russian government, or any other, chose to violate the code and make atomic weapons it could do so. No international authority could interfere, for if it attempted to do so its actions could be vetoed in the Security Council.

THE FIRST important suggestion comes from Mexico. It proposes that the fission of atoms be confined to a few key plants under the control of an international authority. Since no other fission would be allowed anywhere, all atomic weapons could be prohibited. This device, presupposes an international inspection system. For peaceful purposes the key fission plants would distribute harmless atomic materials to nations wishing to use them.

The Mexican proposal may offer some hope of a solution. But neither it nor any other plan will receive American support to assure the prohibition of atomic weapons unless international authority has the atom established beyond question. In this particular phase of international relations, the United States found it necessary to abandon all its former concepts of sovereignty and offer to submit t. a system of world government and law.

Russia refuses to accept these conditions or the impairment of its sovereignty and Russia, as Marshal Stalin plainly indicated in his recent public statement, hopes to make its own atomic bombs in the near future.

The Road Ahead

By Harper Prowse, MLA

We have just about reached the point where our city-dwellers, who make up more than half of our population in Canada, are going to have to sit down and do a little thinking about the welfare of those people who don't dwell in cities. Although Canada experienced tremendous industrial development during the war this isn't going to work out to the benefit of anybody unless we can keep a sound balance between our urban and rural dwellers.

No matter what city you go into you will hear people talking about "the people who have no use for us here" and "when people go back to the country where they belong things will ease off." Well, we might as well face it. People who have gained a liking for city conveniences and city life aren't going to go back to the country whether they belong there or not.

Yet if we don't get enough people to work on the farms, in the forests and in the mines our cities are going to find life far from pleasant. It is weren't for the fact that there are a lot of people who prefer to live in the country, who rather enjoy working on farms, in the forests and in the mines we just wouldn't have any cities at all. For it is these people who produce the primary products on which we all depend for our livelihood as well as our comforts.

WHEN PEOPLE talk of roads in Alberta they usually refer to our trunk highways connecting our cities. They give practically no thought to the thousands and thousands of miles of rural highways. Everytime I hear anybody complain about the condition of the Edmonton-Calgary or the Calgary-Lethbridge or the Medicine Hat-Calgary highways I think about the roads in some of our rural communities. Roads which block up with snow during the winter so that people are isolated for weeks at a time, roads which are absolutely impassable after every summer rain.

If we want people to live in the country and produce the primary products we have to see that we make it more pleasant for them — and the town and city dwellers are going to have to pay some of the cost — more than they are doing now. It is all very well for city school boards to complain that they are not getting sufficient financial assistance from the senior governments, and probably they aren't. But it is far more important that we should at least make an attempt to better conditions in country schools first. The same thing applies to rural electrification. If we are to get this then we are going to have to operate some of the rural districts at a loss, which will have to be made up out of earnings in more thickly populated districts, such as our cities.

The old question was, "How can we keep them down on the farm after they've seen Paree?" The answer, obviously, is to make conditions on the farm a little more like they are in Paree!

British Export Drive

By Frank B. Walker

LONDON: The two months setback in Britain's export drive—caused more by summer holidays than anything else—is over and export figures for October are expected to reach the July peak.

In terms of volume rather than value, September's total of $311,900,000 was nine per cent below the 1938 average. In July, exports were 20 per cent above the 1938 average.

Over the year, progress has been, in view of the problems, quite spectacular. In the first quarter of 1946, exports were 84 per cent of the 1938 volume; in the second, they were 98 and in the third, they were 104 per cent. In the final quarter of 1945, exports were only 56 per cent of the pre-war average.

The adverse balance of trade is still considerable, however, in spite of the fact that imports are closely held successfully at 70 per cent of pre-war. The monthly deficit remains around $130,000,000.

A comprehensive picture of Britain's trade position must include, not only totals of imports and exports but also the origins of the imports and the destination of the latter. A glance at these shows a basic weakness in the export drive.

(For the purpose of comparison, 1938 figures shown in the following paragraphs should be doubled. This will bring both import and export coasts approximately into line with 1946.)

In 1938, imports into the United Kingdom averaged $110,000,000 a month from sterling countries and $226,000,000 from non-sterling areas. In 1945, they were $124,000,000 and $280,000,000, respectively; in July, 1946, they were $161,000,000 and $284,000,000. These figures do not include munitions.

Exports on the other hand were: 1938 to sterling countries, $80,000,000 and to non-sterling areas, $92,000,000 a month; 1945, $66,000,000 and $69,000,000; July, 1946, $194,000,000 and $210,000,000. Included in these figures are relief and rehabilitation supplies to liberated countries.

The picture becomes clearer and the danger to Britain more obvious when individual countries are considered. The crux of the problem is North America and the wide discrepancy appears. In 1938, imports from Canada averaged $29,000,000 a month and from the United States $33,000,000. In July, 1946, these figures had risen to $62,000,000 for Canada and $55,000,000 for the United States.

Exports to these two nations, however, which were $8,360,000 and $7,480,000 for Canada and the United States in 1938, are still only in July, 1946, $11,000,000 and $11,880,000. In other words if the doubling formula is applied, imports have been held at substantially the same level, exchanges have shrunk and the adverse balance remains as great as it ever was.

Furthermore, Britain cannot depend on being able to use the proceeds of her exports to the sterling area and Europe to pay for excess imports from North America. There is good possibility that sterling will become convertible, many of the nations which take a large portion of Britain's exports will claim the full period of grace allowed under Bretton Woods. This runs to five years or more.

The success of the drive fundamentally depends on Britain being able to find the solution to the lack of balance in her export business.

NOT "JUST ANOTHER WEAPON"

Toronto Star

Although Maj.-Gen. McAuliffe may be correct in saying the atomic bomb is "just another" weapon, a tactical weapon and that those who use it would attack factories, harbours, communications centres, concentrations and economic and industrial systems of opponents rather than troops in the field, where the bomb's main power might suffer, his utterance was calculated to make the public feel that the atomic bomb is just another weapon. No more harmful impression could be given. The world must dread and loathe war, particularly atomic war, if we are to bring it under control, no matter what old ideas and institutions stand in the way, or be doomed to suffer the terror and inevitable destruction of the proud achievements of a thousand years of human endeavour.

tract termination—the notice which in the past always has served as a tacit but automatic strike call.

President Truman, vacationing at Key West, Fla., was following developments and was keenly alert to editorial and public reaction. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman was "very pleased" over what he termed the "vigorous" public support of his decision to fight Mr. Lewis to a finish.

The government found additional evidence of need to get ready for a crippling paralysis of industry and ways of life. The Solid Fuels administration reported that 272 government-operated mines employing 72,828 men shut down Tuesday because of the contract dispute.

The day's loss of coal was estimated at 463,487 tons.

While Mr. Lewis' demands in connection with a new contract never have been specified, presumably they include higher pay. One report is that he wants for the miners the same pay for a 40-hour week as for the present 84-hour week which includes 19 hours of overtime.

Seek Means of Ending Coal Strike Quickly

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON — It wasn't supposed to start until midnight Wednesday—the deadline set by John L. Lewis before he retired into silence under a federal court injunction— but the United States already has a coal strike.

Nobody in Washington doubts that by Wednesday midnight the remaining members of the United Mine Workers of America will have joined the more th..n 89,000 of their fellows who jumped the gun and downed tools Tuesday.

The administration already has virtually given up its efforts to prevent the strike, and is looking now to ways and means of bringing it to a quick end before the transport and productive capacity of the country are completely crippled.

So far these plans have concentrated on a fiscal attack on Lewis' mine workers, launched by the army announcement that troops will be put at the disposal of the coal controller if he requests them.

May Block Funds

Government lawyers are working on a plan to tie up the United Mine Workers' $75,000,000 treasury, thereby cutting the miners off from their strike benefits and starving them into returning to work.

In almost any past strike in the history of the United States such a proposal would have brought howls of public protest and charges of tyranny and inhumanity.

In this case no protest has so far been heard and editorial comment in newspapers across the country and a flood of telegrams relayed to President Truman in Florida indicate that the country is solidly behind the administration's apparent intention to settle things once and for all with Lewis.

The U.M.W. is a rich union. It has money enough in the bank to support its members through many long crippling weeks of strike.

Whether the government can tie up that money is an open question

Will Need Injunction

The Smith-Connally act under which the government took over the coal mines after the 59-day walkout of last spring, makes it a crime to aid a strike against the government.

But to tie up immediately the money which would be used to aid the present prospective strike against the government would require an injunction.

An injunction can only be issued by a court—as was the one imposed on John L. Lewis two days ago—on submission of proof that the action is necessary to avert "irreparable harm."

The administration had no trouble in proving the prospect of that "irreparable harm" when it obtained the order banning Lewis from further fomenting the strike and ordering him to take back the notice of cancellation of contract which he had serven on the government. But Washington lawyers consider it a toss-up whether it could make a similar case against the U.M.W. being allowed to spend money to support the strike.

Lewis Keeps Quiet

It is understood the department of justice probably will seek to present the government's case along the lines that the country stands to suffer the same damage through the financing of a strike that it does through the strike itself.

As for Lewis, he has so far stayed within the letter of the court order slapped on him.

He has not further incited his men to strike. In fact he has said nothing at all. He has no needed to say anything. He had set the strike machinery in motion before the injunction was granted and his men have taken over from there.

If he does not withdraw his cancellation of the union's contract to mine coal for the government by Wednesday night he may be jailed.

But it is doubtful if a last-minute withdrawal, under what the union would consider duress, would make much difference to the strike.

Blum Heads U. N. Education Group

PARIS, (AP) — Former premier Leon Blum, chief of France's delegation to the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization, Wednesday was unanimously elected president of the first general assembly of U.N.E.S.C.O.

Wednesday's plenary session will set on credentials of the 41 countries, including Canada, which sent delegates to the conference, scheduled to continue through Dec. 15 Russia is among the countries not represented.

Earlier Archibald MacLeish, deputy chairman of the United States delegation, outlined an ambitious program involving expenditure of $2,000,000,000 annually for improved cultural relations.

No such expenditures are contemplated at present, however, and the organization's secretariat is expected to recommend a yearly budget totalling $9,000,000.

Mr. MacLeish told a press conference that without Russia "U.N.E.S.C.O. has two strikes against it and a third coming up. There has been no Russian opposition to U.N.E.S. C.O.'s purposes," he said. "My understanding is that they simply want to see how the organization shapes up."

Mr. MacLeish outlined a tentative five-point program which included international exchange of teachers, technologists, artists and craftsmen; examination of school and college text books for errors in an effort to make them objective; establishment of a world-wide library system under U.N.E.S.C.O. supervision; employment of all mass communication media, such as radio, press, films and television to spread news of United Nations activities and knowledge of cultural activities; and constant study of world thought trends in an effort to find out what causes mistrust and fears, and ways of ending them

U. S. Navy Plans Quit Philippines

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The navy plans to pull out of its war-built $73,000,000 Philippine base at Leyte, Samar, as soon as "government property" can be disposed of, an official said Tuesday.

The only navy installations to be retained in the Philippines will be the submarine base at Subic bay and air facilities at Sangley point, near Manila, he added.

Pay $4,000,000,000 For U.K. Railways

By Basil Dean

LONDON.—The government revealed it proposes to pay stockholders about $4,000,000,000 compensation when British railways are nationalized. The first reaction of financial interests was to cry "cheapskates" at the government for what they regard as niggardly terms.

The amount won't be paid in cash but in government-backed bonds. Each shareholder will receive what the treasury regards as a fair equivalent of the value of his present holdings calculated on average market prices during the first six days of November.

Transport Minister Alfred Barnes, who made the announcement in the commons, tried to give the impression of leaning over backwards to be fair by saying that where share prices were higher during the six months before the last general election than they were this month, the higher price will be used as basis of calculation. This is to forestall charges that the government is getting the railways cheaply because the nationalization threat has driven share prices down.

The government bonds, paying probably no more than 2½ percent, will leave them much lower net income than the railway stocks they hold at present. The Conservative "Financial Times" estimates average yields will be cut by more than 40 percent.

Free ambulance service to London voluntary hospitals has been started.

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

Although the manpower situation for the Flyers is none too robust at the moment, Coach Riley Mullen said Tuesday night the team will be "plenty tough" for the Stampeders as the two teams renew their intensity rivalry at the arena here this evening.

Injuries always a worry for hockey managers, have plagued the Flyers right since the opening of the season, and Elmer Kreller, Freddy Smitten and Johnny Black are all very definitely non-starters tonight. Bing Merluk is a flu host and although not at Tuesday's workout will be in the lineup.

Smitten, still in hospital with wrecked wrist ligaments, is now expected to be out of action for several weeks. Kreller's shoulder is on the mend, but he'll not be available, and Black, who didn't play in Calgary either, is still a member of the Flyer casualty row.

Billy Maher at Centre

Mullen said he intends to start Billy Maher between Alex Pringle and Bing Merluk, with Don Stanley, Stan Devicq and Ab Newsome another combination and this gives him Cy Thomas and Walter Dutchak as special shock-troops.

Fortunately for Flyers the defence boys have been wearing well and all five — Pug Young, Bob Solinger, Gordon Watt, Bill Pettinger and Bim Barker — are ready to bounce the Stampeders.

Flyers will be nattily attired in their new hockey duds for the Calgary visit. The sweaters are blue and yellow — Edmonton Exhibition colors — and the knickers blue with yellow piping. Let's go!

Memorial Cup Guessing

BUNNY MORGANSON (Toronto Telegram) has just been visiting Western Canada. Column pinch-hitting for Maurice Smith in the Winnipeg Free Press, Bunny included a few observations on the junior hockey situation as he saw it. Here are a couple of paragraphs:

Around Edmonton and Calgary they are giving the Memorial Cup, already, to Edmonton. Swinging back down around Regina, Moose Jaw and all points east, they claim this is Brandon's year . . .

"From what we have seen (in the east) so far this winter, it looks like a fight to the wire between St. Michael's, Oshawa, Galt and Stratford, now that they have found themselves . . . Barrie Flyers may break into the first four bracket."

Says '37 Monarchs Best

Morganson, who has been writing sport for his newspaper for more than 25 years, liked Monarchs of '37 best of all Winnipeg clubs that went east.

"I've still got last year's Monarchs in my hair, what's left of it, as one of my favorite teams, but it is hard to rub out that 1937 Monarch club with McCready, Langelle, Pike and the others. . .

"Glad to note your junior "A" boys are playing a more open game and also a little more rugged style of hockey . . . eastern clubs play the professional type which allows far more bumping and boarding, but not of a deliberate nature . . ."

Puck Fans' Protest Stops Tilt at Coast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP) — A Seattle-Vancouver Pacific Coast Hockey League game ended in a near-riot at the Vancouver Forum last night when hockey-mad fans protested failure of officials to award a penalty following a player fight and littered the ice with so much refuse the game had to be stopped and awarded to Seattle. Two fans were ejected from the rink by police.

The game was officially forfeited to Seattle on a 5-1 score—the count at the time a fight broke out between Ben Bathgate, Vancouver centre and Freckles Little, Seattle goalie, after only three minutes of the third period.

THE FLARE-UP CAME when Little and Bathgate clashed in front of the Seattle cage. It ended with Bathgate being knocked on the ice but the officials apparently did not see the scrap and no penalty was awarded.

When the referee tried to face-off the puck again, the fans went wild and hurled everything they could find, paper programs and pop-bottles crashed to the ice. The rink was swept up three times and two fans were ejected for hurling bottles, but still the fans persisted.

FINALLY OFFICIALS declared the game forfeited to Seattle on the strength of their five goals in the first periods.

Canuck officials did not immediately indicate what action if any might be taken with regards to the game.

Canadians Swamp Swift Sextet 15-4

Leo Lucchini And Bob Gray Lead Sniping

Earl Robertson's fast-skating junior Canadians went on a wild scoring spree at the Arena Tuesday night to swamp the third-place Swift's sextet 15-4 in a penalty-free City Hockey League game played before a "handful" of fans.

Every member of the Canuck lineup except goal-keeper Johnny Sofiak picked up at least one point in the wide-open fixture and every forward managed to slam the rubber past netminder Don Murray, who was kept busy practically every minute of the contest, at least once.

LEFT - WINGER Leo Lucchini and defenceman Bob Gray led the scoring parade with three goals each while the others came off the sticks of Bob Watt with two, Eddie Thomas, Norm Kirk, Don Slater, back on the Canadian lineup last night after undergoing an appendix operation, Bob Goodacre, Doug Anderson, Harry Groves and Jim Hammond.

Watt, Goodacre and Gray all picked up four points for their night's work.

Swift's goal-getters were Berry, Eric Wotherspoon, Jack Wotherspoon and Jack McQuay.

THE GAME was fast right from the starting whistle, but the Swift defence soon began to weaken and Don Murray's cage became a target.

The Canadians fired a total of 40 shots, 10 in the first, 13 in the second and 17 in the final session, and Murray kicked out 25 of them while at the other end of the rink Sofiak had only 21 shots to handle, booting out 17.

Play in the first period gave indication of a close game despite the fact Canadians took a small 3-1 lead. Watt opened the scoring for Canadians when he received a pass just over the blue-line from Ron Matthews and went in to drive the puck between Murray and a post.

BERRY PUT Jimmy Anderson's Swift crew back on even footing less than two minutes afterwards when he picked up the puck right in front of Sofiak from a scramble and slid it into the net. Kirk banged in a passout from Slater in the corner shortly afterwards, however to put the winners ahead for good. Lucchini fired in Goodacre's rebound before the period ended to make it 3-1.

Canadians' superiority soon began to show in the second period, however, as the Canuck forwards rammed in seven straight without a replay from the opposition. Eric Wotherspoon ended the Canuck scoring monopoly at 15:54 of the sandwich frame with the only Swift counter of the canto, leaving the score at 10-2.

THE WINNERS continued their scoring barrage in the third and driving home five more while Swift picked up another lonely one-sided score, Swift's kept trying and got their last tally of the night at 18:53 of the final period when Jack Wotherspoon converted George Stuart's pass.

CANADIANS: Sofiak: Matthews, Gray; Kirk, Groves, Slater, Subs—Marchant, Anderson, Goodacre, Lucchini, Watt, Hammond, Thomas.

Schedules Open Week of Dec. 9

NINE MIDGET LOOP CLUBS; SIX IN JUVENILE DIVISION

Six teams will be operating in the juvenile league and nine in the midget division during the ensuing season, it was disclosed following Tuesday's night's meeting at which Gordon Self, new director, presided.

Edmonton and Maple Leaf Athletic Clubs are both entering two clubs in the juvenile group, along with one each from Canadians and South Side. In the midget division three teams will be playing under the colors of the Canadian Athletic Club, with two from both RAF and Maple Leafs, one South Side and one of Air Cadets, the latter being a new entry this year.

THE JUVENILE schedule will get under way on Monday, Dec. 9, and the midgets also are expected to ocommence that same week. Regular league play will continue through Feb. 15, after which playoffs are to take place.

This year juvenile games will be played Monday and Thursdays with three rinks in use—119 street, Boatwood and South Side. Midgets schedule days are Tuesdays and Fridays and all available rinks will be utilized.

Saskatoon Surprises Lethbridge Club 8-3

SASKATOON, Nov. 20 (CP) — Saskatoon Elks whipped Lethbridge Maple Leafs 8-3 here last night in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game, played before about 2,100 fans who braved a blizzard, and climbed into second place, on a point basis, in the circuit.

The Elks took a 3-1 lead in the first period, held a 4-2 margin at the end of the second and then poured four more goals home in the final 20 minutes while holding the Leafs to a single tally.

MIKE SHABAGA and Cy Rouse led the winners with a brace of goals each and the others were scored by Dave Livingstone, Dede Haime, Red Goble, and Sid Fenn. Grant Hall notched two for the Leafs and Joe Fisher the other.

The Shabaga-Livingstone-Rouse line opened the scoring for the Elks when the first period was little more than a minute old. Livingstone slamming home Shabaga's rebound after the latter had centred it from his own end and slipped through the defence.

ROUSE FINALLY cleared to centre after a Leaf power play but Hall came back with a blue-line shot. Then Fenn and Livingstone bounced back to test Young. McCaine drew a roughing penalty and Klein took Fenn's passout and shot through a maze of players for Elks second goal.

Nearly four minutes later Negrello passed out to Latoski from the corner and Latoski relayed it to Hall who poked it past Brennan for the Leaf's first goal. Elks came back with another goal in less than three minutes, Goble beating Young after taking a pass from Jim Brennan.

Dutchak was chased for boarding and Coach Leslie Lewis threw all their power into the attack but failed to score before he returned.

ELKS STAGED two dangerous rushes and the second period got under way and then the Leafs went on the offensive but McCaine's penalty for boarding Hulme put the Elks them any although Saskatoon failed to score while McCaine was off.

Buttrey fired straight at Young's goods and then Livingstone missed the net entirely as the Elks pressed the pace, but it was the Leafs who finally scored. Fisher shooting the goal after a clever passing bout with Juckes and Harrison.

ELKS MISSED another perfect scoring chance when Jim Brennan shot the puck directly at Young after taking Goble's relay with no one but the goalie to beat. The Saskatoon team made it 4-2 however when Shabaga converted Livingstone's passout near the three-quarter mark.

The first period was just underway when Elks raised the margin to 5-2, Rouse beating Young with a long screened shot after taking a pass from Livingstone.

Shabaga and Rouse got through but the rolling puck stopped on the goal line and the Leafs gradually began to assert some power. Rimstad and Negrello staged dangerous rushes and finally a Hall-Latoski combination paid off with the Leafs third and last goal. It was deflected in off a Saskatoon player.

LEAFS TIED the Saskatoon defence up for a good two minutes before Klein passed to Shabaga who coasted in on the Lethbridge goal and scored handily. Buttrey drew a holding penalty after the face-off but the Leafs failed to do anything with it and Rouse took a goal-mouth pass after he returned to raise the score to 7-3, Sid Fenn got the final score with two seconds remaining.

LETHBRIDGE — Young; McCaine, Gray; Latoski; Negrello, Hall; Subs, Vandale, Juckes, Fisher, Slugg, Rimstad, Harrison, Loke.

SASKATOON — W Brennan, Richardson, Klein, Shabaga, Buttrey, Rouse, Subs, Fenn, Dutchak, Hulme, Livingstone, Lubeck, Goble, J. Brennan.

Officials—Bobby Wilson, referee; Bill McPhail and Headley McDonald, linesmen.

Ryder Cup Games Likely for U.S.

LONDON, Nov. 20 -(CP)—The 1947 Ryder Cup matches between British and American golf professionals probably will be played in the United States.

The British professional golfers association announced Tuesday it will meet in London early in December to consider an invitation from the American pros. Observers said most of the Britons seemed to be going to the United States as the last match, in 1937 was played at Southport, the United States winning with seven victories, three halves and two draws. The 1939 contest— the match is a biennial affair—was scheduled for Cincinnati, Pa., but was cancelled by the war.

Likely members of the British team would be Henry Cotton, Dai Rees, C. "Jimmy" Ayton, Dick Burton, T. B. Hallburton, Reg Whitcombe and perhaps the South African, Bobby Locke, who may become attached to an English club next year.

Canadian Race Fans Dug Deep This Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(CP)—Canadian horse racing fans dug deep this year and wagered $48,667,744 to put the first post-war betting season only a few strides behind the 1925 total of $49,867,765, top figure during the free-spending "roaring 20's."

THE AGRICULTURE department said today the $48,667,744 parimutuel betting was during 305 days of racing at the 33 meetings of 27 racing associations. In 1945, 33 racing associations held 344 days of racing.

The Dominion's composite bet in 1946 increased $6,474,486 over last year's. More prize money was paid this year too — $1,815,090, compared to $1,588,345 in 1945. Twenty-six associations held 35 meets totaling 307 days in 1945.

Ontario fans bought more of the pasteboard tickets than the racing devotees of all other provinces — and were rewarded with the biggest single pile of prize money. In 116 days of racing, Ontario tracks paid $912,300 in purses and the chalk players bet $30,714,144.

LARGEST betting at any meet was the $2,633,838 wagered at the Ontario Jockey club's spring meeting at Woodbine Park, Toronto — scene also of the king's plate.

Statistics of the Western provinces, with 1945 figures in brackets:

Billy Taylor Remains Top NHL Point-Getter

MONTREAL, Nov. 20—(CP)—National Hockey League statistics released Tuesday showed Billy Taylor, fleet forward of Detroit Red Wings, the League's leading point-maker for the fourth straight week.

TAYLOR added a goal and an assist this week to run his total to 18 points, made up of six goals and 12 assists. Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens is in the second slot with 16 points accumulated from 10 goals and six assists. Another Detroit player, Roy Conacher, is in third place with five tallies and nine assists for 14 points.

Richard leads the goal-getters with 10 goals while Taylor heads the assists department with 12.

Turk Broda of Toronto Maple Leafs is the league's least-scored-on netkeeper with 26 goals fired past him in 11 games. Boston's Frankie Brimsek has turned in two shutouts while Bill Durnan of Canadiens and Broda have one each.

KENNY REARDON, Canadiens' aggressive defenceman, leads the penalty parade with 29 minutes spent in the cooler while Hal Jackson of Detroit is right behind him with 27 minutes in the box.

Toronto Maple Leafs are atop the league standings with 17 points made up of seven wins, three ties and one loss. Canadiens are in the second spot with 15 points, two more than the third place Boston Bruins.

Think Duplessis Still May Accept

By John Bird

OTTAWA. — Things are seldom what they seem in Quebec-Ottawa politics, thus Premier Duplessis' reported "blast" against Ottawa, made at Ottineau, is even interpreted in high quarters here as an indication he may be willing to sign a tax agreement with the dominion "inside eight months."

If this is a blast, they say, it is Duplessis a modified blast, with the voice of the cooing dove audible in the overtones.

Furthermore, certain Ottawa experts believe Quebec cannot come within $20,000,000 of raising the same amount of money as contained in the dominion's tax agreement offer, without imposing painful provincial taxation, including duplicate taxation of corporation and individual incomes.

Observers here say Mr. Duplessis, while expressing a willingness to come to Ottawa, at no time has called for a reconvening of the dominion-provincial conference.

Meanwhile, a number of Ottawa authorities, possibly indulging in wishful thinking with regard to political tempers in Ontario and Quebec and perhaps reporting to the force of suggestion, continue to ping the idea that all provinces will soon come under separate dominion-provincial tax agreements, within eight or ten months.

Doubt Giant Liner Dodged Torpedoes

LONDON, (CP)— The admiralty and Cunard White Star steamship line were unable to confirm a Smithsonian Institution document, reported from Montreal, indicating the liner Queen Elizabeth veered sharply off her course near the Cape of Good Hope in June, 1942, to escape a U-boat's torpedoes.

"Our understanding is definitely that the Elizabeth never was troubled in any way during her wartime movements," one Cunard official said. "Nor do our documents indicate she ever so much as sighted a submarine."

Non-Committal On Bread Ration

LONDON, (Reuters) — Asked in the commons Tuesday if bread rationing in Britain was likely to continue until 1947, Food Minister Strachey replied, "These are absolute speculations and I honestly could not comment.

"The position is nothing like certain enough for us to know."

61 Percent in Canada Favor Pensions Above $40 Monthly

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO. — Canadians are keenly interested in old-age pensions. Almost everybody has a definite idea of the amount of pension desirable, and most of them think the rates should be higher than they are.

While there are only three percent of Canadian voters who have no opinion on what the pension should be, 27 percent are completely ignorant of what present old-age pension rates actually are.

This evidence emerges from the latest Gallup Poll of a balanced cross-section of adult Canadians. Reporters of the Institute asked:

"If it were your job to decide how much money old-age pensioners with no other means of support should receive from the government each month, what amount would you set?"

The amounts advocated range from $9 per month to $200 per month, with the greatest proportion in the $31 to $50 range:

Amount	Proposed by
$20 or less	1%
21 - 30	12
31 - 40	21
41 - 50	27
51 - 60	15
61 - 99	13
100 or over	6
Qualified answers	3
No answer; no opinion	2
Total	100%

This record reveals a trend in current opinion towards higher pension rate demands than the public advocated in May, 1943, when the Gallup Poll surveyed Canadian voters with the same question. Following is the comparison:

Amount	Proposed by May, 1943	Today
$20 or less	7%	1%
21 - 30	38	12
31 - 40	30	21
41 or over	23	61

Today, as in May, 1943, younger voters and large city dwellers tend to suggest higher pension rates than their elders and the farm and smaller city voters. No notable differences of opinion on the subject exist as amongst the lower, middle, and upper income classes.

Following the above question, the persons interviewed were asked in the latest survey:

"Do you happen to know how much an old-age pensioner in this province receives at present?"

More than half were unable to state the correct amount. In many cases, the answer was partly correct; full knowledge of the adjustments and special conditions in some provinces could hardly be expected.

But fully 27 percent were unable to give any information of the pension rate in their respective provinces. A considerable sector of the public thus reveal a readiness to offer advice about old-age pension rates without having any knowledge of what present pensions provide.

U.F.C. Head Raps Pool's Resolution

SASKATOON, (CP) — George Bickerton, research director of the United Farmers of Canada, an organization with an estimated 83,000 members confined to Saskatchewan, said a resolution passed by the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool delegates regarding strike action by farmers indicates "how far officials representatives as such of commodity organizations can become removed from the farmers . . ."

The Wheat Pool delegates' resolution said they "cannot support any action which will interfere with the free movement of food supplies" to Britain and Europe.

Youth Is Accused Of Toronto Slaying

Hull was slain Monday in his store by a blow on the head from a blunt instrument which police first believed to have been a pop bottle.

He declined to disclose what proportion had been spent on consumer goods. Mr. Hall told another questioner that in 10 months ended Oct. 31, Britain had spent $61,000,000 for hire or purchase of United States moving pictures.

Use 'Buddy' Plan In Arctic Tests

By Frank Angelo

WITH TASK FORCE FRIGID, Fairbanks, Alaska, (CDN)—If ever a soldier needs a friend, he needs one to be an effective fighter in this forbidding frozen country.

The American army has become convinced, after a week of steady subzero temperatures, down to 32 degrees below, that something called the "buddy system" of organization is a virtual certainty for Arctic warriors.

"Fear of getting lost in this snow-covered territory is one of our biggest morale problems," explains Col. Paul V. Kane, of Corvalels, Ore., who recently took command of this outfit. "We definitely are not going to let men travel alone on any of our manoeuvres. There's something about being by yourself in these below-zero surroundings that makes being lost in the Sahara desert seem like nothing at all. A man can freeze to death pretty fast."

Plans are being studied to form teams of two to five men for field operations. They would work together, pitching their tents, preparing their food and operating equipment. They even would be encouraged to pal around together on off hours. Effectiveness of a "buddy system" has been demonstrated in another important respect: saving men from suffering frozen faces. An alert buddy can call attention to those telltale yellowing spots in time for a soldier to do something about them. That already has happened in this group.

Pigeon Attacks Baby in Carriage

VICTORIA, (CP)—A tame pigeon which attacked the sleeping three-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mireau was killed Tuesday. The bird lacerated the baby's face and pecked at the infant's tongue until it bled.

Mrs. Mireau had left the baby sleeping on a verandah, and rushed to his side when he started to cry. She found the pigeon pecking at the child's face, and drove the bird away. Half an hour later the pigeon flew to the pram again, and Mr. Mireau killed it with a stick.

General Weeks:

Warns War May Come Suddenly

If war should come again it might come to such great suddenness to Canada and for that reason it would be wise for Canadians to maintain interest in things military, was the advice given here Wednesday by Maj.-Gen. E. G. Weeks, CB, CBE, MC, MM, additant - general of the Canadian Army, in Edmonton visiting Western commanding officers.

"IF ANOTHER war should come we may not have so long to prepare to train our forces," he said.

The Canadian Army has an active strength at present of 25,000 with the Reserve forces numbering 180,000.

The army plans an educational campaign to explain to the taxpayers the necessity for maintaining the nation's military strength, Maj.-Gen. Weeks said.

NO EXTENSIVE recruiting campaign has been launched as yet by the Canadian Army because it was desired to give veterans a chance to rehabilitate themselves in civilian life the general explained. By next year, however, it is hoped to have the assistance of many able ex-soldiers in the training of the peacetime forces.

Life in the Canadian Army has been made much more attractive to young men who are fitted for military careers, with pay and allowances that compare favorably to income derived from civilian occupations.

Maj.-Gen Weeks is accompanied by his aide, Capt. Colin H. Graham, also of Ottawa.

QUESTIONED about the Army plans for the disposition of the sum of nearly $7,000,000 profits accumulated by army canteens and regimental messes during the war years, Maj.-Gen Weeks stated that disposition of the money involved legal entanglements, and that the final disposition would have to be decided by the federal government.

Army plans for the disposition of this money call for the provision of organizational grants to help army units establish themselves in peace time, the establishment of memorial scholarships for veterans' children and the bulk to be used to provide a benevolent fund, similar to that established by the navy and air force, for the assistance of needy army veterans.

He spoke of his present visit as informative to find out what was going on in the various army centres.

Highlights of his morning visit in the city were a conference with Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, CBE, XM, ED, of Western Command Headquarters, and a visit to Calder to view the installations of Northwest Territory Yukon Signals.

At 11:45 he visited the Legislative buildings where he met His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen and Premier Ernest Manning and at 12:30 he visited North West Air Command, where he met and talked with Air Commodore R. L. Gordon.

During Wednesday afternoon he inspected the quarters at the Prince of Wales Armory, and visited at the Hotel Macdonald where he met officers of the COTC. Concluding Wednesday's agenda he will inspect the Connaught and Victoria Armories.

On Thursday, he will spend the entire day in conference with Maj.-Gen. Worthington and Western Command staff officers, and during the evening, will meet city reserve officers at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Retail Business Reveals Increase

There has been a notable increase in the volume of retail business transacted in Alberta during the year, Hon. C. E. Gerhart minister of municipal affairs and trade and industry, said Wednesday.

He attributed the increase to a general rise in prices which has created a greater circulation of dollars and cents. On the increase also was the volume of all-Canadian business done in Alberta.

On the basis of 100 all-Canadian business transacted in the province represented only five per cent 10 years ago. Today it has reached about eight per cent, said Mr. Gerhart.

CAMPUS BEAUTY QUEEN: Marion Albert, campuses at an inter-varsity contest at Vancouver University of British Columbia couver last Saturday night, is shown above beauty who was judged queen of western just after her selection had been announced.

Tell of Experiences at Coast

"Had Wonderful Time," Co-Eds Say on Return to Edmonton

Two tired but completely happy university campus beauties stepped off the CNR train last night when Rosalie McHaffie and Norma Shearer arrived home after a hectic week in Vancouver as Alberta entries in the intervarsity beauty contest. Welcomed by hordes of milling varsity students, including the U. of A. Students' Council, the two campus queens arrived accompanied by the University of Manitoba entries in the contest, both on the way to Winnipeg.

ALL THE GIRLS WERE "absolutely exhausted" after their week of constant activity, but nevertheless thought that it was "absolutely wonderful."

A grinning porter's statement was typical of passengers' comments: "Those are sure four of the loveliest girls I've ever seen."

The Manitoba contestants were unable to accept an invitation to remain in Edmonton for a few days and left almost immediately for their native campus.

Miss McHaffie and Miss Shearer were transported to CKUA studios where a personal interview was broadcast to home radio listeners. Dozens of students followed them to the studio to overhear their fairy-tale-like adventures.

IN A LATER interview with The Edmonton Bulletin they told of a magnificent suite at the Hotel Vancouver, breakfasts served in bed, lunches, banquets; teas, they giggled a little when they remember being stared at wherever they went as Vancouverites made the most of having the contest in their city. They were photographed hundreds of times, even by national newsreels, and state that they are now quite veterans at smiling for the press.

The girls received a royal welcome at the coast city airport—dence which said, "UBC may have won, but you're still tops with us."

"With such a wonderful greeting we just couldn't be nervous," they recalled. Although they arrived quite late in the afternoon, they attended a banquet that night, first of many, and a personal appearance at a packed-to-capacity Orpheum theatre.

AS GUESTS AT THE Hotel Vancouver, they shared a luxurious suite with the entries from the University of Manitoba, and spent their first night at the coast chattering gaily and "getting acquainted." With a chaperone to guide and assist them, they spent Friday and Saturday attending countless luncheons and teas, shopping, in press conferences, and even appearing in a musical quiz program at a local radio station, where incidentally, they both won prizes.

On Saturday night, after a brief afternoon rest to put them at their best, all the contestants attended the joint formal ball-beauty contest sponsored by the British Columbia university at the Vancouver Armory. Between four and five thousand people attended to view the much publicized event.

THE ESCORTS for the prairie girls that evening were six of the Regina students attending UBC who, it will be remembered, precipitated the contest by declaiming B.C.'s beauty in a letter to a Regina newspaper. An interesting situation arose in that there were only six prairie entrants and seven Reginans, but the males soloved the problem privately, how neither Rosalie nor Norma know.

At the ball, three Seattle judges chose Marion Albert of UBC as top western beauty. Both Alberta girls agree that she is "by far most glamorous."

The contest by no means marked the end of the girls' activities. After the ball they attended a midnight entertainment and early breakfast as guests of the UBC Jokers' Club. Their return home delayed by bad weather, the girls spent Sunday and Monday touring Vancouver, seeing the west coast university campus, and getting a well-deserved rest.

ONE FEATURE of the trip that touched the Alberta girls deeply and made them very happy was the reception at the airport—dence which said, "UBC may have won, but you're still tops with us."

Back home again the two charming young women agree that the U of A campus is "still the best" with them, and they are proud to be Alberta co-eds.

Also looking back on their experience, Rosalie McHaffie and Norma Shearer sigh dreamily, "It's still the most wonderful thing that ever happened to us."

Board Reports:

Extensions To Schools Soon Ready

Extensions to St. Patrick's and St. Anthony's schools will be completed in the near future, according to a report on building projects, given at the November meeting of the Edmonton Separate school board on Monday. It was decided that the matter of speeding up the completion of other building projects would be taken up with the contractors concerned.

CONSIDERATION was given to the report submitted by the Edmonton fire department following its recent inspection of school buildings and arrangements made to carry out the minor adjustments recommended by the department.

Enrolment in the schools for the month of October was reported as having reached 3,731, being an increase of 88 over the corresponding figure of 1945.

Preliminary consideration was given to the questions as to whether the board would be in a position to carry out an extensive building program next year. The matter will be further dealt with at the January meeting.

IT WAS arranged that the annual tenders for the major caretaking and school supplies required for the forthcoming year would be invited and dealt with in the month of December.

City Man Gets Jail, Lashes

Found guilty in supreme court Tuesday by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd on a charge of raping a 58-year-old Clyde district woman, William Robert Staples, Edmonton, was sentenced to serve five years in Prince Albert penitentiary and also to receive 10 lashes.

Evidence at the end of the trial by crown prosecutor Donald B. MacKenzie was that the accused, while on a hunting trip in the Clyde district, gave his victim a ride in his automobile.

Shortly after she entered the car he committed the offence, and used such force that bruises-marks of his fingers were visible on the woman's arms for several days. The woman testified the accused also struck her on the face.

Passing sentence Mr. Justice Shepherd said the accused's offence was the most despicable attack on a woman old enough to be your mother. This is the most completely proved case of rape I have ever heard, and there is no loophole of escape."

"Middle aged women must be protected from attacks while walking down our streets and roads," Mr. Justice Shepherd said as he pronounced sentence.

Can't Get American Steel

Change School Plans To Speed Construction

Acute shortages of American steel have caused a delay in the construction program of Edmonton's composite high school. At a meeting of the public school board Tuesday evening, it was decided to change the foundation plans of the school by using instead of the originally planned wide flange sections of steel promised from the American rolling mills, standard sections rolled by Canadian mills.

THIS CHANGE spells an increase in construction costs of approximately $6,000, but erection will get under way in late May or early June. If the original plan of using the American wide flange sections, had been carried out erection would not get under way until October.

On the recommendation of R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, W. W. Butchart, newly-appointed school architect and superintendent of plant, was asked to prepare plans and submit an estimate cost for the addition of two extra rooms at the proposed Virginia Park and Mill Creek schools.

Mr. Sheppard pointed out that present overcrowding of schools in those areas, indicate that larger accommodation will be necessary in the new schools. It was decided to hold the cement pouring, which got under way this week at the new schools in abeyance, until the additional plans had been submitted. This should cause a delay of about one week.

INVESTIGATION will also be carried out this week into the possibility of using "restful" pastel tones for finishing the walls in classrooms of schools to be built under the 10-year plan. This suggestion was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, and received the unanimous approval of the board, pending a report on costs.

G. E. Swallow, school medical inspector, reported that excluding skin conditions there are not many infections prevalent among schools age youngsters in the city at the present time. Measles is beginning again, but is not expected to reach noticeable proportions.

W. W. Butchart, school architect, reported that sketches for the proposed soup bar at Queen Alexandra school have been prepared and submitted an estimate of $628 as cost for installing the bar.

AS THE BAR was originally the recommendation of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, who offered to pay $150, what they figured would be half-cost toward the erection of the counter, future action was tabled until the board property committee had received further financial advice from the association.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes was named to represent the school board on the City Recreation Commission for the coming year and Dr. John L. Morrison will replace Mrs. Haynes as chairman of the conference committee.

Asks Damages For Street Accidents

Two supreme court damage actions arising from accidents on city streets were filed in supreme court Tuesday. Total damages claimed in the two actions was $21,755.

MISS LAURA MacLAREN, Edmonton school teacher, sought $13,548 special and general damages from the City of Edmonton as a result of an accident as she left a street car at Jasper avenue and 113 street on May 24 last.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that a breakdown on the transportation system occured which tied up street cars for approximately 60 minutes. During the tie-up the motorman left his street car, and when alighting Miss MacLaren slipped and fractured her left ankle.

SHE ALLEGED in the statement of claim filed by McCuaig and Parsons, Edmonton barristers, that the city was negligent in not providing lighting in the vestibule of the street car, and in not keeping the motorman on the street car.

She alleges also that the city was negligent in not insuring safety for passengers when alighting from the street car, and also in not having he door normally used for discharging passengers open for use of passengers.

In the second statement of claim John Morrison, Edmonton, is seeking $10,407 damages from John W. Weeks and Leonard Phillips, also of Edmonton, for injuries received when struck by an automobile operated by Mr. Weeks and owned by Phillips. This accident occurred on Aug. 4 last at the intersection of 96 street and 102A avenue. The statement of claim was filed by Neil D. Maclean, KC.

Rt. Hon Vincent Massey

Says New Prestige Acquired by Canada

"Since the war years Canada has acquired a new prestige in the world at large, but that prestige involves obligations and a widening of responsibilities." It was in this vein that Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, former Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom, addressed members of the Edmonton Gyro and Men's Canadian clubs at a joint luncheon meeting held in the Macdonald hotel Tuesday.

MR. MASSEY went on to say that although Canada had played an honorable and distinguished part in contributing to victory, her task was not over. "The fighting is gone," he said, "but the state of the world is not yet that of peace and we, as Canadians, have a continuing obligation to help produce real peace, to bring about the kind of world we want to live in."

He warned that the nation must guard against a negative trend of thinking. He pointed out that there those who still take a negative view of Canada's position in the world, and who still think of Britain in its 19th century sense.

"IN CANADA," he said, "we are accustomed to think of ourselves as a young country, but surely there is a lot of loose thinking on the subject of countries being old or young. A nation can be old in history and young in feeling. Great Britain is an example of this. In Canada, we are relatively young in years, but we have many of the marks of maturity."

He spoke of the advantages gained by our servicemen during their service in foreign countries, in being able to see their country for the first time in perspective. As a result, these men and women have a better idea of their country than when they embarked from its shores.

IN BRITAIN, he said, the prestige of Canada, has risen to a new height. He lays this partly to the manner in which our servicemen conducted themselves while in the country as well as the contribution we as a country made to the war effort.

Of Canada's veterans now returned, he said that they have both experience in leadership and the resilience of youth. He expressed the hope that they can be given corresponding scope in civil life and that the arithmetic of years will not be held against them.

"If ours is really a young man's country," he said, "these young men will not only be permitted, but will be invited, to take their rightful place. They will rise to whatever responsibilities await them."

IN CONCLUSION Mr. Massey said, "today we live in a confused and dangerous world. We are beset with evils, problems within and without. We can only face them if we recapture the spirit of those men who served our cause so well. But if we have real fire within us and an honest belief in ourselves who can set bounds on what we can make of our country?"

Traffic Proposals Are Made to City

Several recommendations for the improvement of traffic conditions in the city, were submitted to the city council Monday, in a brief presented by the traffic committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

AMONG THE recommendations made by the committee were those for the adoption of off-street parking lots to be provided at strategic points.

It was suggested that any city-owned properties, conveniently located for parking purposes, be reserved and, if necessary, other properties should be acquired by the city and leased for parking purposes. These properties could be leased to private operators of parking lots and rates be established for the construction of parking blocks.

FURTHER recommendations called for the city obtaining and operating parking meters; that the main thoroughfares in the city be marked into two, three or four traffic lanes according to the width of the streets concerned, in order that established highway driving regulations may be applied and that the law giving pedestrians crossing the streets and lanes, the right of way, be scrupulously enforced.

Massey Says Canada Has Gift for World in Culture

"Canadians have certain characteristics which are typically their own, and mark them in any large international group," Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said Wednesday, when he addressed a luncheon meeting of the Women's Canadian club in the Macdonald hotel. He said he could spot Canadians during the war years overseas by their bearing, the way in which they carried themselves; their naturalness; ease and self discipline, their self confidence and good manners. When one met young Canadians in London they were always going somewhere.

Speaking "on being Canadian", Mr. Massey pointed out that Canada has a contribution to world culture, and a responsibility of its people to tell the world of the Canadian way of life. He spoke of Canada's cultural life, paintings, which are typical of only Canada, literature, music, handicrafts, and urged the need of some definite plan to give this to the world and tell of the Canadian way of life.

HE POINTED out that this would not only be valuable to other lands, but would help Canadians to understand themselves. Canadians overseas learned much of their homeland while away from it and were much more Canada conscious than when they left home.

Mr. Massey spoke of Canada as a mosaic of all sizes, shapes and colors, set in cement. Things which to him depict Canada are a constable in the RCMP, a beaver, a village in French Canada, a bar of nickle, a pair of moccasins, a tube of insulin, a hockey stick, a canoe, a strip of birch bark, a grain elevator, a boom of logs.

The speaker told of the work of the government supported British Council in, giving knowledge of Canada's cultural background and way of life to other lands, and while so doing acquiring a knowledge of ideals of other lands.

HE FELT some such plan was needed in Canada. The world was ready and anxious to receive it he said. Canadian music was well received in Britain; Canadian pictures were and are in great demand in Britain and on the continent. Canada reached maturity with the First Great War and has now reached mature tolerance and is ready to stand along side other countries. He spoke of the fine heritage of culture and of freedom received from Britain.

Mr. Massey deprecated the lack of a national gallery, and a national library, in Canada, and spoke of the treasures which should be housed there. The National Gallery of London, even in bombings was packed and fine concerts given almost daily. People need the finer things of life, and most of all during dures and strain, he said.

Mr. Massey told of wartime England, saying that love of our own country need not stop us respecting and loving the older sister in the Emvire.

Mrs. Stanley H. McCuaig presided.

WE wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and floral tributes received from our kind friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved wife and mother. IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of father, Fred F. Winter, who passed away Nov. 20, 1943.

"Not dead to those who loved him,
Not lost, but gone before,
He lives with us in memory,
And will forever more."

Ever remembered by Mother and the Children.

In loving memory of our Mother Mary W. Stanchfield, who passed away November 18, 1945.

"We saw you fading like a flower
But could not make you stay,
We nursed you with loving kindness
Until God called you away.
Our Mother Dear we loved you,
And our hearts ache for you still,
Forgotten by some others,
But by us you never will."

Sadly missed by The Children

Grain Prices

EDMONTON GRAIN

Street prices on Edmonton deliveries of grain were quoted by the National Grain Company Wednesday: Rye—2 C.W. 2.24½, 3 C.W. 2.19½, 4 C.W. 2.11, ergoty 1.84. Oats—all grades 39½ plus 10-cent bonus. Barley—all grades 49¼ plus plus 15-cent bonus. Wheat—received on wheat board scale of 1.20 for top northern.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Rye futures prices moved narrowly in a dull session on the Winnipeg grain exchange Wednesday. There was modest shipper buying on light offerings. Dealings were mostly local. Dec. made a low of 2.50¼ and closed at high of day, May high 2.42½, low 2.38¾. Final prices were 2⅝-1¾ higher with Dec. 2.53⅝; May 2.42A and July 2.28-2.28¼. Cash rye 2.56⅝.

Sale of 3,300,000 bushels of wheat and wheat in the form of flour was recorded in the export market. The United Kingdom took 2,000,000 bushels in flour and 350,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000,000 bushels in flour was sold to other countries.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, (AP) — A seasonal peak was scored by the January wheat future in grain pits today, but other grain contracts were little changed. Some of the strength in wheat was attributed to mill buying.

Wheat closed ½-1¼ higher, Jan. 2.13 and during the session January wheat hit 2.13½, best price for any wheat delivery since October, 1920. Corn finished ¼ lower to ¼ higher at 1.33¼ for Jan.; oats were ⅛ lower to 1¼ higher.

Cash grain: wheat — No. 1 mixed 2.25; corn — No. 2 yellow 1.42; oats — No. 1 heavy mixed 88¼-90; barley — malting 1.45 - 1.78.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, (AP) — Industrials and rails were prominent on the losing side Wednesday. Selling pressure was light throughout and support levels were uncovered at times to reduce extreme declines. The losses were widespread near the close. Transactions approximated 1,000 shares.

Canadian stocks were off fractionally at mid-day.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

If you only hadn't been home last night when that phone call came! But, as usual, you gallooped at the sound of the bell, and you couldn't pretend you weren't in! That Hortense girl caught you red-handed. You were so surprised to hear her voice, of all voices, that you said "yes" before you could think of an excuse. And here you are today pledged and promised to go to the Fortnightly Dance with Hortense. Well, maybe you can get good and sick between now and two weeks from Friday. Maybe you can conveniently break a leg. Maybe you can rook up a weekend at Grandmother's. But you've got to work fast, you think to yourself. You've got to get yourself out of this spot. This is a mess! A dance with Hortense!

If you're a lad who usually breaks promises . . . go ahead and get out of this one! If you usually treat your dates in a high handed fashion . . . deal out the same treatment to Hortense. If you tell the girls you'll be around . . . and don't show . . . why should Hortense be an exception?

But what's wrong with going to a dance with Hortense, is what I want to know? One evening out of your long life won't hurt you? What's wrong with Hortense?

Perhaps you've only seen her a couple of times . . . so you're afraid you wouldn't know what to talk to her about. You've never danced with her in your life, so you're worrying already about how you'll look together on the dance floor. Hortense is new and untried . . . so you're scared to take a chance, eh?

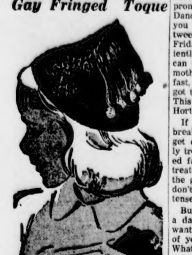

Maybe you've seen her around for ages . . . but you think she's a drip. She doesn't know anybody you know. None of your pals have ever dated her. You don't see her around where you go. So that makes her a very small pumpkin? Just because she doesn't bear the stamp of your gang's approval . . . it doesn't mean she doesn't make the grade. It's pretty smug of you, really, to consider anyone outside your circle beyond the pale!

Maybe you and Hortense would hit it off immediately. And maybe Hortense would be an uphill pull. But it's not a solo date, remember. It's a dance. There will be other girls to dance with, other fellows to hush with in corners. You'll find somebody else to lighten Hortense's load. You won't have to spend every blessed minute with her. She's the one who knows about the Fortnightly dances, after all . . . her friends go. Maybe you'll like her friends.

Maybe Hortense didn't want to invite you! Maybe she thinks you're a pain in the neck! Maybe her mother talked her into it. You're such a nice boy, and she likes your mother so much. Maybe Hortense had her own ideas of a boy to take to that dance . . . and she made the deal with you reluctantly. Maybe she'd like to end up some excuse to call it all off. Because you're such a drip!

Well . . . why not set out to prove her wrong? Why not go through with it . . . and show her how smooth a dance date with you can be? You can't lose anything. And you never can tell what you'll find!

Dorothy Dix Says —

One of the most tragic things in the world is the tears that plain girls shed over not being Miss America, for most of them are committed to the belief that unless they can take a prize in a beauty show life is endless, ashes and dust for them, and they might as well crawl into their coffins and pull the lids down over them.

NOW, OF COURSE, every woman would like to have a peaches-and-cream complexion and be a Powers model, but it is not true that unless a girl is whistle bait she is hopelessly handicapped, as is abundantly proven by the fact that most of the women who have achieved fame and fortune didn't do it on their looks, and that the world is full of happy wives who are undeniably short on pulchritude.

The homely girls can substitute a lot of attractions for the lack of beauty. Brains, for instance. She can make herself so intelligent, so interesting, so amusing and such good company that nobody will notice whether her nose turns up or down. She can flatter other people. Instead of expecting them to flatter her, and that always makes a hit. She can be such a good dancer and play such a keen game of bridge that men will fight to be her partners. Only the beautiful can afford to be dumb. The plain girl has to be smart.

Nor is it true that the beauties make the best marriages. Men are inconsistent creatures and, though they pay lip service to beauty, they seldom marry for it. The pretty girl gets a rush, but it doesn't always end at the altar. Every community is full of old maids who in their day were noted belles and beauties whom men hung around like bees around a honeypot, but whom they didn't marry.

Somehow, when it came to picking out a wife, they selected girls who were just soso as to looks, but who had good, durable domestic qualities, and who hadn't been so spoiled by flattery that they wouldn't be able to appreciate their luck in getting a good husband and be willing to hand him a few compliments.

So, ugly ducklings, cheer up. Don't worry about your looks. If you make yourselves interesting and loveable, people will think you are beautiful whether you are or not.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For a long time the soy bean was thought of only as a rotation crop and little emphasis was given to its commercial or food possibilities. Today we know that it has a great many different uses. Milk is now made from these beans and some say that it is more digestible than cow's milk. They are also used as substitutes for cheese, macaroni and butter, and soy-bean oil now vies with cottonseed and linseed oils for prominence. Plastics and automobile parts are made from them too.

SOY BEANS are of special interest to us because of their high health value. During the war we heard a great deal about this but now that the pinch is off we are likely to forget about it. In soy beans we find all of the vitamins with an especially nice amount of vitamin B. This is an important fact to remember because surveys have shown that the average diet is more likely to be deficient in vitamin B than in any of the other vitamins. This bean is also a splendid source of protein and fat. In fact it contains twice as much of both as beef. It would indeed be a wise health measure to incorporate more soy beans in our diets.

I firmly believe that the time will come when nutrition will be so highly developed that our offspring will look back at the barbaric days, when people ate what tasted good rather than what was good for them with horror. They will wonder how we lived at all and will feel sorry for those of us who died at an average age.

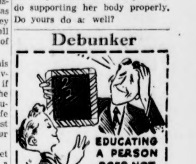

I CAN ONLY hope that this comes soon enough for us now living. At least it seems too bad if we fail to take advantage of the things which are known about nutrition. It might increase our life span and would certainly add zest and happiness by prolonging our vital years.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 37 "Vitamin Defence" send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

A blacksmith does not pass on to his son the strength he has achieved by a lifetime of using certain muscles. He passes on to his son only as good a set of muscles as he himself was born with. The same is true of intelligence. The great German scientist, Weisman, proved that nothing we gain in life is inherited by our children, and that we pass on to them the same things our parents passed down to us. Only the germ plasm is passed down from generation to generation, and it remains unchanged. Otherwise, the ignorance and follies of our ancestors would weigh us down like millstones.

The modern word "mules" for house slippers derives from the Sumerians who called their slippers "mulus."

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

To get a child to accept the responsibility for clean toilet habits is a hurdle a parent wants to get over early in the child's life. She does get tired of washing soiled diapers. She notes that the child can learn other good habits and she can find no excuse for his failure to learn this one.

It is hard to convince a parent that a child is not always being deliberately bad when he soils his clothes five minutes after he has been removed from the toilet. There is a period when it is easier for the child to evacuate when he stands up than when he sits down. There is a period when the child unconsciously inhibits a movement because he cannot relax and act by merely having been told to do so.

Mothers are disgusted at their children when they act this way, and they grow angry and punish because they cannot imagine why they are unable to follow directions when they know so well what is expected of them.

The child isn't being stubborn on purpose. It is more than possible that the great to-do made about cleanly habits makes the child self-conscious about them. The self-consciousness makes for inhibition and failure, even if the child would like to please the parent and do as she asks. Tension is inimical to evacuation and parents make children tense by scolding them and threatening them if they do not perform as expected.

It is better to set the stage for success. Stiffle any anger if the child has an accident. Do not berate him. Do not make too great a fuss if he is successful.

Just try to say, as convincingly as possible, "You'll begin to act like a grownup one of these days." If the mother is encouraging; if the child has no strains or tensions because of his uncleanly habits, one of these days, without warning, he will find that when he sits on the toilet he can act. He should be praised and made to feel that now he is on the road to becoming more adult in his habits. It is amazing how well this quiet, unemotional method works—inevitably.

Our leaflet No. 65 "Toilet Behavior," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Bridge

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Florida probably has more bridge players per capita than any other state in the Union. As bridge is one of our favorite pastimes and Florida is a recreation state, it follows that a great deal of bridge is played by those who vacation there.

There will undoubtedly be many kibitzers at the forthcoming national tournament to be held at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, Hollywood, Fla., Dec. 8 to 15. Kibitzers are always welcome at the tournaments of the American Contract Bridge League, but they must remember that they are watching tournament bridge, not rubber or party bridge.

For example, at rubber or party bridge South would be quite satisfied to play today's hand at six-diamonds; but at tournament bridge, when North jumps to six diamonds, it is obvious that it is easy to get to a slam contract on this hand. Therefore South decided that he had better play it at six no trump to get a better score. Scores in tournament bridge are measured in match points, not necessarily on the points scored on an individual hand. Therefore tournament players have to be very careful in their play as South was in this hand. Six diamonds can be made easily by cross-ruffing.

At no trump, declarer wins the opening lead with the ace of spades and finesses the diamond, losing to the king. The jack of spades is returned and won in dummy with the king.

As a squeeze is the only hope of making the hand, declarer cashes the three top hearts, discarding a spade from dummy, then plays the three top diamonds. He is left with two clubs and two spades, while dummy has four clubs.

West cannot hold four clubs and the queen of spades, so the contract is made.

Although six no trump can be made on this hand with a squeeze play, the beginner in tournament play frequently makes the mistake of trying to play too many contracts at no trump.

A NEW CONSTITUTION—Emperor Hirohito reads his Imperial rescript ordering the promulgation of a new constitution in a formal ceremony in the House of Peers of the Japanese Diet in Tokyo. Some 1000 princes of the blood, besides Diet members, attended.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR—Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs and President of the United Nations General Assembly, feeds this grateful elephant at the Bronx Zoo in New York. The long snooted animal is a gift of the Belgian Congo.

SUNNY CALIFORNIA—As most of southern California was under a deluge of heavy rains, motorists on the Los-Angeles-San Joaquin highway battled heavy snowstorms. This half-buried auto was abandoned by its driver at Angelus Pass—in rightfully named La Canada—only 30 miles from Los Angeles.

BETWEEN PICTURES—Wearing a short white evening dress with bra top, Mrs. William Powell, the former Diana Lewis, chats with her actor husband as the couple vacationed at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. This was the first public appearance of the Powells since Mrs. Powell's illness.

SUSY LOST HER PIN—Nurse Pearl Fenton holds 21-months-old Susan Ryser, after a two-inch safety pin, the largest ever withdrawn from an infant's esophagus, was successfully removed from her throat in a Chicago hospital.

DEFLATION — Despite the demise of OPA and talk of prices going even higher, one national chain merchandiser cut his prices as much as 44 per cent. Here an employee replaces the old price list with one showing the decreases. Elias Lustig, president of Adam hat company, said hats would be reduced to "realistic prices."

AND ALL REDHEADS, TOO—Bob Jensen, University of Wisconsin student, "dreamed up" the newly-organized League of Redheaded Women, and here the dream comes true. The league's first action was to protest Rita Hayworth's conversion to blond. The actress responded that the change was only temporary.

TALKING TURKEY—"It's time to talk turkey again," says film actress Jeanne Crain as she eyes this plump fat turkey. The big bird, however, looks with not a little concern at the strange looking weapon that Jeanne sharpens on the stone.

British Territorials Reorganize Jan. 1

LONDON, (Reuters) — Britain's territorial army, which before the war was a volunteer citizen army, will be reconstituted Jan. 1 War Minister Frederick Bellenger said in the commons.

Mr. Bellenger said in another war the vital commitment of anti-aircraft artillery would fall largely on the territorial army. The territorial army also will provide units for the regular army to convert it into the fully balanced force ready for battle, he said.

CANADIAN GIVEN C.B.E.

LONDON, (CP)—Frederic Hudd, assistant to Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in the United Kingdom, was made a Companion of the Order of the British Empire by royal investiture at Buckingham Palace.

Capt. Christopher Soames of the Coldstream Guards smiles as he relaxes on board train in London en route to his wedding engagement to Mary Churchill, youngest daughter of Winston Churchill, was announced by the former British prime minister.

Ministers Discuss Taxation Effects

CALGARY, (CP)— Two provincial cabinet ministers, Hon. W. A. Fallow of the public works department, and Hon. C. E. Gerhart of the department of municipal affairs, spoke on taxation by federal and provincial governments and its effect on Albertans, when they addressed separate sessions of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts convention Tuesday on Monday afternoon.

Both said the "invasion" by the federal government into Alberta's taxation fields made the province's source of revenue uncertain. Mr. Gerhart, Monday afternoon, advocated a redrafting of the rights and responsibilities of the dominion and the provinces, and on Tuesday Mr. Fallow said matters had reached the point where the provinces "must accept the dominion's tax proposals or perish."

Tuesday J. M. Wheatley of Chancellor was re-elected president, and Charles P. Hayes of Strome was re-elected vice-president.

"We hear in C.B.C. propaganda that the provinces are falling in line and accepting the proposals of the federal government," Mr. Fallow said. "Actually there is nothing farther from the truth. When I agree to sign it will be only when the sun is at my head and the count is nine.

"Nearly every field of taxation has been invaded by the federal government, and although Ottawa officials said they would return these forms of revenue to the provinces at the end of the war we have no assurance they will.

"Taxes will be so high that we shall have to rely on personal property taxes for the province's main source of revenue," he said.

Japan's coal shortage has become serious because of the departure of Chinese and Korean mine workers and failure to recruit enough Japanese laborers to replace them.

Pneumonia-Like "Q Fever" Gaining Foothold in U.S.

WASHINGTON (NANA) — "Q Fever"—a pneumonia-like disease first reported from Australia about six years ago—apparently has gained a foothold in the United States, and may be moving around the world.

Within the past six months, according to the United States public health service, there have been two small epidemics—one in Amarillo, Tex., and one in Chicago—which unquestionably are due to the germ of this disease. Previously the only cases in this country had been among laboratory workers, with one possible exception in Montana in 1941.

Stockmen Hit

The symptoms are very similar to those of virus pneumonia and the two diseases may easily be confused, according to public health service doctors. The essential difference is that the pneumonia is due to a filterable virus, such as is responsible for influenza or measles. Q fever, on the other hand, is caused by one of the ricketsia, similar to the organisms responsible for typhus fever and Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Both recent epidemics occurred among stockyard workers, leading strongly to the belief that the ricketsia organism is carried by livestock. There was a considerable outbreak of the malady in Italy during the last year of the war, soldiers billeted in Italian barns being the first to get the disease. It can be passed from man to man quite easily and an epidemic is difficult to control.

Diagnosis Simplified

At the same time public health service workers announce the isolation of several antigens from incubated chicken-egg preparations which will make easier and more certain the diagnosis of another rickettsial disease, the dread scrub typhus which attacked American troops in the Pacific.

By means of very delicate tests involving these antigens, it was announced, it now will be possible to determine the degree of immunity built up in a population over several years. The antigens react in a characteristic fashion with the blood of persons who have had mild attacks of the disease which may never have been reported.

The agents have no demonstrable value as the basis for scrub typhus vaccines, the public health service workers explain.

Says India Wants Stay in Empire

In Fort William to address the Canadian club, Mr. Rao acted as an adviser in the India delegation to the International Labor organization's migration committee meeting at Montreal in August.

CUT DOWN ON TAKING LAXATIVES THIS WAY

See How Regular You Can Be Every Morning

Try taking Carter's Pills this way: Start with 5 and set a definite time every morning. When you get regular every morning cut down to 3. After a few days, try 1.

Then try taking Carter's every other day. You may even find you can keep regular without any laxative.

You see, Carter's are so tiny you can gut down the dose—from 5 to 1—to fit the needs of your individual system. Without disagreement.

Carter's help clean out your intestinal tract not half way, but thoroughly. They are doubly effective because made with two vegetable herbs compounded properly for thorough, easy action.

Thousands can cut down on laxative pain this Carter way. Ask for Carter's Pills by name to get the genuine at any druggists—25c, 75c, $1.00. Start the Carter graduated dose method tonight, and jump out of bed tomorrow rarin' to go.

Boy Flees Hospital Twice in One Day

BALTIMORE, (AP) — Young Lawrence Minossi was in hospital Tuesday—but he didn't like the idea of having his tonsils and adenoids removed.

The 10-year-old boy, clad only in pajamas and slippers walked out of the hospital Monday night and became the object of a city-wide search.

Found early Tuesday several blocks from the hospital, the boy was hustled back by his mother—the third time he had been taken to hospital for the operation.

After first being taken to the hospital Monday, the boy left immediately after his mother and followed her home. But back he went, and his mother stayed with him until 8:30 p.m. Shortly after she left, he took off again.

Landlords Strike; Seek End Controls

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Landlords in the United States have closed 300,000 rental units in a growing strike against the O.P.A., George M. Englar, president of the National Apartment Owners' association, said Monday.

Mr. Englar's estimate was made at a meeting in which militant state groups joined for a country-wide property owners' strike.

British War Wife Dies from Fumes
